New Rumors of Neutrality Act Repeal Rampant

Roosevelt Stand To Aid Democracies In Europe Revives Talk; Committee Weighs Proposal To Bare Data In Inquiry Into Plane Sales.

BULLETIN

ROME—(AP)—The United States embassy today asked the Italian government for an explanation of bitter personal attacks on President Roosevelt published in the Fascist press.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt termed a "deliberate lie" today a statement that he had said the American frontier is on the Rhine.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt's reported determination to aid the European democracies revived talk on Capitol Hill today that the administration soon might try to modify or repeal the neutrality act.

The subject was discussed informally by influential congressmen as the senate military committee, meeting in a closed session, debated whether to make public the record of its inquiry into the projected sale of American-made warplanes to France.

Senator Clark (D., Mo.) appeared to have the support of a majority of the committeemen in his demand for disclosing all testimony which involved no military secrets.

Because the neutrality act prohibits shipping war materials to belligerents, Senator Logan (D., Ky.) said it seemed reasonable to assume that if the administration were committed to helping the democracies, it would want to change the law before any conflict broke out.

"I think we ought to repeal the neutrality law," declared Logan, who heard the president outline his views on foreign policies Tuesday at a conference with the senate military committee.

"Then the president would have a free hand in shaping our foreign policy, as the constitution provides," he added.

Senator Nye (D., N. D.), an advocate of mandatory neutrality, agreed with Logan that events appeared to be moving toward a showdown.

"The president has practically served notice that the neutrality law is a dead letter," said Nye, who also attended the White House meeting.

What Britain Need Now

"If we supply France and Great Britain with airplanes and other munitions now, what are we going to do if they become involved in a war? Are we going to shut off their supply? I am afraid the tendency would be the other way, with all that implies as far as neutrality is concerned."

Despite the continuing senate furor over Mr. Rosevelt's endorsement of the French plane transaction, house members dealing with the defense program remained unruffled.

Several members of the house military committee said they had known for some time of the pro-

STEIWER DIES

U. S. Senator 11 Years, G.O.P. Keynoter Stricken at 55.

(Picture on Page 9)

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Frederick Steiwer, who served 11 years as a Republican senator from Oregon, died early today at the age of 55.

Near the end of his second term he resigned from the senate, Jan. 31, 1938, to practice law here. He had not been in the best of health for the last three years.

Steiwer delivered the keynote address at the Republican national convention in Cleveland in 1936, and had been mentioned that year as a possible presidential nominee.

"No government can borrow itself rich, or spend itself prosperous," he told the delegates at Cleveland, and that expression summed up much of his political philosophy as reflected in his senate career.

CITY MOVES TO BUY SUPPLIES

Board Ready to Let Contracts for Street Materials as Check of 100 Bids Ends.

With tabulation of more than 100 bids completed today the city board of control prepared to award contracts for the purchase of materials and supplies to be used by the street department this year.

The tabulation was completed and turned over too Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist by city engineers late yesterday.

It appeared likely that two Mansfield firms and one Cleveland firm would be awarded contracts on the six materials on which they were the only bidders. The proposals submitted by The Mansfield Asphalt Paving company, R. O. Darling, and L. H. Baeckler of Celveland.

Baeckler was the lone bidder on 25 cars of cinders. His price was $1.40 per ton.

Darling submitted the only bids on 2,000 cubic yards of crushed and graded gravel at various prices depending upon the size.

The Mansfield Asphalt Paving company submitted the only bids on 50,000 gallons of asphalt cutback, 200 tons of Westphalt, 2,000 tons of T5 asphalt, and 7 cars of road oil.

A price of 4 9-10 cents per gallon was quoted on the oil for Amrine Questions Prisoners in Gambling, Racketeering in Inmates' Paroles.

CHECKS PAINTER RELEASE

Ex-Cleveland Banker's Case Under Scrutiny; Woodard, Deputy Quizzed.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—A partial report on his investigation of conditions at Ohio penitentiary was expected Saturday from William F. Amrine, state superintendent of corrections.

Amrine has been delegated by State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood to get to the bottom of charges that a parole racket was operated by outsiders at the penitentiary, that petty gambling was permitted among prisoners, and that liquor and narcotics were available to convicts.

Promises Dismissals.

Given quarters at the prison, Amrine has devoted his entire time recently to the investigation, trying to get names of those involved in such activities. Director Sherwood has promised dismissals or other necessary action.

Evidence gathered by Amrine included a letter from a prisoner to his brother which discussed contacts with outsiders. Two state officials were named in the letter as having been contacted. Questioned yesterday about the letter, the prisoner denied writing it.

Amrine also investigated the pardon of Kenyon V. Painter, former Cleveland banker, by Governor Davey, it was understood.

Deputy Warden August Ptak and guards were interviewed by Amrine yesterday.

'Not After Job.'

The inquiry may require considerable time, Amrine indicated. He said he had known Warden J. C. Woodard for 30 years and was not out to "get his job," but merely to learn the truth. Director Sherwood affirmed this statement.

Col. W. J. Walker, assistant deputy warden, denied reports that there had been any differences between him and Deputy Warden Ptak.

Woodard and Ptak, who is in general charge of prison operations, both are under civil service.

STUDY PIG CASE

State, Medina Officials Meet on Garbage Farm Protests.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Dr. Walter H. Hartung, retiring state health director, summoned Medina county health authorities to his office today to discuss the celebrated Medina county "pig farm case."

"I have received numerous complaints, and intend to find out at once whether it is menacing to health for a farmer to feed large quantities of garbage to his pigs," Dr. Hartung said.

He declared that the Medina health authorities had taken no steps to abate the situation, and he would find out whether "any action is contemplated."

He declared an investigation by his engineers disclosed that garbage was being fed to about 2,000 pigs on one farm outside the city of Medina.

OHIO RIVER TO REACH 50 FEET

Tide To Stay Two Feet Below Flood Stage, Belief.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—An Ohio river crest of 50 feet, or two feet below flood stage, was predicted by Meteorologist W. C. Devereaux today as heavy rains, turning to snow, swept the Ohio valley.

The river was rising above 45.2 feet, the highest here since 45.7 recorded last May 7.

A blinding snowstorm swept southwestern Ohio, leaving streets and highway ice-coated, Airplanes were grounded.

Devereaux said the crest here should be reached Sunday, unless precipitation continued.

Reich Summons Frauleins to the Farm

German girls are going to learn about farm work, although not all of them will have to get behind the plow. These are girls participating in the voluntary program which preceded the compulsory call.

Skirted Legions to Till Soil on Germany's Farms

All Girls Between 18 and 25, Willing or Not, Ordered Behind Plows for 'Year of Duty for the People.'

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—Rich or poor, pretty or no, willing or not, German girls are being mobilized. All sturdy frauleins between 18 and 25 on March 1 must be ready for farm work.

The call to the colors for a "year of duty to the people" was made by Field Marshal Goering; Dr. Friedrich Syrup, employment chief, will enforce it.

The skirted legions will be flung into the thin ranks of reich manpower, now straining under requirements of the military and the four year plan to make Germany self-sufficient.

Hope Some Will Marry.

Authorities hope some will marry farmers. The Nazi policy seeks to build up a settled rural population, especially on frontiers—to develop a love of the land and the will to defend it.

Marriage is one cause for exemption from the ruling, physical disability another. Elder daughters of large families may serve at home. An alternative to labor service is two years as probationary nurse. Girls who served in the voluntary farm labor program in other years can do their stint in six months.

There were 130,000 girls in the voluntary program last year. Under conscription the number may reach 400,000. Pay was not mentioned in the new order; the voluntary workers got about 80 cents daily. No girl may obtain private employment unless she has served her "year of duty to the people."

PADDLE 'EM!

That's Judge's Advice to Curb Teen Age Divorces.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—(AP)—"Old fashioned woodshed paddlings," thinks Judge Henry O. Goett, might result in fewer divorces—especially among 'teen age couples.

He told a couple wrangling in his court over who should get a divorce, "the best thing that could happen to you is for your parents to take you out in the woodshed and give you an old-fashioned paddling."

GUESS HE DID!

Groundhog Theory Upheld by Weather's Behavior.

It would seem, judging from today's weather, that the groundhog saw his shadow with a vengeance yesterday and crawled back for another six-weeks' snooze.

At any rate, a regular February snow — fine and hard-driven, though not particularly heavy, started to fall during the morning, and indications were there would be more snow tonight. Saturday, according to the forecast, will be fair and colder.

The mercury stood at 27 at noon today, a gain of three degrees from the 24-hour low of 24 degrees. Yesterday's high was 44.

At any rate, whether you believe in the groundhog story or not, it's winter today and likely to stay that way for a while yet.

RADIO ARTISTS, CHAINS SETTLE

Threatened Strike Averted by New Working Pact.

NEW YORK—(AP)—A threatened nation-wide strike of radio entertainers was averted today with the signing of a two-year agreement between the American Federation of Radio Artists and two major broadcasting chains.

The agreement resulted from negotiations which had been in progress since Monday, after nearly 2,000 members of the union had cast a national strike vote.

The contract, signed by the National Broadcasting company and the Columbia Broadcasting system, was announced jointly by the AFRA and a committee for advertisers, representing sponsors of commercial network programs.

CAUGHT IN LIE

Murder Suspect Admits Fibbing; Trial Nears Close.

FREMONT—(INS)—Trial of Rex Bush, Mentone, Ind., youth charged with the shotgun killing of Night Marshal Neal D. Fowler of nearby Clyde drew near a close today after Bush was caught in a lie testifying in his own defense.

Bush said that there was a companion with him when Fowler was shot as the marshal's automobile drew alongside Bush's car.

Under severe cross examination, Bush admitted he had been lying, and that there was no one else in the car.

PORTS CONFERS WITH EXAMINER

Reports Say Restitution of Allegedly Missing Court Funds Was Topic.

Allen K. Ports, dismissed clerk of the municipal court, was reliably reported to have conferred with State Examiner Elmer Zook last night concerning restitution of court funds alleged to be missing.

Ports said today that he had been at city building last night and that he had talked to both Zook and Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, but said he had "just dropped in to say 'Hello'."

Judge Kalbfleisch at first denied that he had seen or talked to Ports last night, but after Ports had told of the meeting, admitted that he had seen his former clerk.

The judge declined, however, to say what the conservation concerned, although he said he "understood" that it concerned a plan whereby Ports would make restitution to the court.

Zook continued to maintain silence, in accord with the regulations under which state examiners work. They are not permitted to comment on an audit while it is in progress, and all comment on findings are made first to the state auditor, under whom examiners work.

However, in cases involving shortages of public funds, formal demands for restitution are made on the persons involved before the completed audit is submitted to the state auditor.

It is expected that Zook's audit will be complete by the end of

M'REYNOLDS 77

Justice, Opponent of New Deal Laws, Celebrates Birthday.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Justice James C. McReynolds, who has been the most frequent opponent of Roosevelt administration legislation on the supreme court, became 77 years old today.

'Dig In' To Save City's Sewer Survey

Officials to Put WPA Worker on Payroll to Keep Project Going.

Rather than have its sewer survey suspended, as was threatened by the opening of the real property inventory by WPA, the city administration today had decided to dig down in its pockets for $100—maybe more.

Mayor C. M. Hunter announced that Owen W. Stoup, who had been employed on the city records project, and had been devoting his time to making the sewer survey, would be put on the city payroll to permit him to continue his work.

WPA, in setting up personnel for the real property inventory closed the city records project as well as the book-binding vital statistics project and transferred workers to the RPI.

When the city protested, W. H Van DeVert, in charge of the RPI, suggested that the city put Stoup on its payroll. He said it was not the custom of WPA to continue projects with less than 10 persons on them, although he added that he did not partciularly need Stoup on the RPI undertaking.

There was a question, however, as to how much Stoup would be paid and by what department—although Mayor Hunter said he believed Stoup would receive more money from the city than from WPA.

Pay Up to Council.

He said this morning that he would instruct City Engineer W. C. Statler to pay Stoup from his department's appropriation of $500 for the sewer survey. Statler, who balked at using engineering funds for this purpose yesterday, said today that council would have to determine Stoup's rate of pay and set up the necessary funds.

Officials in charge of the RPI project had planned to use Stoup for only three weeks—a period in which workers are to be trained in the method of making the survey. At the end of that time, they explained, they plan to add about a dozen additional persons, and will then transfer some of the workers on the city record project back to their original jobs. Stoup will then return to the WPA payroll.

Mayor Hunter addressed RPI workers at their headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce assembly room this morning, promising 100 per cent co-operation of the city with the project.

CUT BEER SPOTS

Liquor Board Sees Reduction in Ohio Liquor Resorts.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Assistant Atty. Gen. Donald C. Van Buren, adviser to the state board of liquor control, indicated today substantial reductions might be made in the number of beer and liquor resorts in Ohio's metropolitan centers.

The liquor department and attorney general's office are conducting a survey to determine, he said, if the number of permits has exceeded population quotas established by state law.

Statutes provide that no city with more than 555,000 population may have in excess of one liquor sale permit holder for each 1,500 persons.

Investigation of gambling in establishments holding liquor permits was seen as another means of reducing the number of resorts.

Sidewall Collapses as Fire Fighters Stand on It to Battle Blaze.

(By International News Service)

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Rescue gangs toiled ceaselessly today in an effort to reach eight firemen, trapped and believed to have perished in a general alarm fire that destroyed the four-story Collins block, ancient office building, early this morning.

Hope had been abandoned that the men would be found alive, although some, at least, survived for several hours, but relays of fellow firemen pressed forward in a narrow tunnel below the street level, seeking to burrow through with pick and shovel to the cellar where the entombed men were plunged when a side-wall of the flaming building collapsed.

Priests Go to Scene.

But, alive or dead, to the men was granted a final spiritual boon—conditional absolution of the Catholic church. Several priests from nearby parishes were among the first to scramble into the smoking wreckage. They sought, first, to aid the rescue workers, and then, as the voices of the trapped men ebbed and died away, the words of absolution were pronounced by the priests.

Those entombed and believed dead were: Acting Chief Thomas Dugan, Lieut. Raymond Bauder, Lieut. David Levice, Lieut. Albert G. Young.

Firemen—James E. Diamond, John W. Agan, Michael Dixon, Frank Kerlin.

Walls Creak, Crash.

The entombed men were part of a group which had fought its way to the room of the flaming structure and, from that vantage point, was seeking to direct efforts to quench the general alarm blaze.

Suddenly, with the only warning the ominous creakings of aged cross-bars, a sidewall collapsed, plunging the men into the basement of the structure while charred debris and flaming timbers crashed down on them.

Tom Mooney Wants Divorce But Wife Announces She Will Fight

(By United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO—Rena Mooney said today Tom Mooney wants to divorce her "but I won't let him after all the years I've fought to get him out of prison."

"I've spent the best years of my life for Tom," Mrs. Mooney said. "He can't discard me now. I'll go right into court and fight his efforts to the last ditch."

Mooney, in seclusion in a San Francisco hotel, refused to see reporters. Two weeks ago in Los Angeles he branded rumors of an impending separations as "lying statements by my enemies in an attempt to discredit me."

Mrs. Monoey said the only reason she revealed her husband's intention was because "somebody threatened to take me off relief now that Tom was out of prison and could support me."

"Tom hasn't given me a dime," she said. "Through all the years he was in San Quentin I supported myself giving music lessons. And every cent I could spare above bare necessities went for Tom—for the fight to get him out."

Mooney, famous labor prisoner jailed for the San Francisco Preparedness day bombing of 1916, finally was pardoned by Governor Culbert Olson last month.

$231 In 'Overages' Pile Up But County Can't Spend Fund

For more than seven years Richland county has had $231 in its treasury that it can't spend, Auditor Norman L. Wolfe revealed today.

Because they don't know whose money it is, county officials haven't done much about it. Wolfe said, however, that he probably would ask common pleas court to decide whether the money can be put in the county general fund for operating expenses.

The fund, Deputy Auditor Arthur S. Beck explained, accumulated from "overages" in the treasurer's books previous to 1932.

"It's 'mystery money' just like the overages in a private business, but the state auditor's department won't let us use it as a business man does," Beck said.

The county has added nothing to the fund since 1932, indicating that officials have done a pretty good job of keeping books, Wolfe added.

The auditor's financial report for January, which lists the surplus fund, also shows that the county's general fund balance jumped from $27 on Dec. 31 to $27,958 on Jan. 31. Sales tax and personal tax recepits during the month accounted for the increase.

During that period, the county received $49,607 and spent $21,676, the report shows.

WAX FOR COMFORT.

If you want your guests to feel perfectly at ease when you are serving drinks be sure that the tops of your occasional tables which are not of plate glass have a generous coating of wax. The wax will prevent wet glasses from making rings on the wood and if the table has an enamel top will save the surface.

Two potential lawyers will be visiting in the city this week-end—Chuck Spreng will be at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Spreng, and James F. Bell, jr., of London, O., will visit with his sister, Mrs. Charles Farry. Both men are seniors in Ohio State's law school and are responsible for 90 per cent of the bills introduced in the Ohio legislature. . . . Really, they, with seven other members of the senior class, spend four hours a day on bill drafting in the state house. The students deal mostly with revisions of the general code, looking up the existing law, and changing it according to the wishes of the legislators. . . . The advantages of this experience are that the students have to read through all the codes to see what the effect of a proposed change might be, and consequently pick up a tremendous amount of knowledge.

CITY PAYS ONE OF LOWEST TAX RATES IN NATION

15-Mill Levy This Year Third Best in State, Among U. S. Leaders, Survey Shows.

Mansfielders will pay one of the lowest municipal tax rates in the nation when they begin their real estate payments in about three weeks, a survey of rates for other cities showed today.

Reduced to 15 mills on a dollar valuation this year, the Mansfield rate is third lowest in Ohio. Only Lorain with a rate of 14.40 mills and Steubenville, 14.20 mills, are lower in the state.

Figures compiled by the Detroit Bureau of Government research and published in the National Municipal Review, give Mansfield a favorable comparison with the nation's 294 largest cities in tax obligations.

All of Ohio's larger cities topped Mansfield's rate, with the figures ranging from 15.80 mills in Dayton to 28.48 in Akron.

Mansfield's new rate, the lowest in more than 20 years, is .40 of a mill under last year's rate. The reduction was due to the retirement of bonds.

Only One Village Lower.

The city pays less taxes per dollar valuation than any of the villages in the county, except Plymouth which has a 14.60 rate. The Mansfield rate is considerably under Shelby's which will be 16.80 mills this year.

The national survey shows rates ranging from a low of $13.35 in Wheeling, W. Va., to $117.30 per thousand dollars property valuation in St. Petersburg, Fla.

On the new rate and valuation basis, Mansfield's total real estate tax bill this year will be approximately $780,000, slightly higher than last year despite the lower rate.

The increase, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe pointed out, is due to a slight boost in valuations established in the property re-appraisal last year. The city's new valuation is $52,000,000.

The first half year tax collection, scheduled to begin about the last of this month, was delayed a month because of the re-appraisal and necessary changes in the auditor's and treasurer's books.

LAFF-A-DAY

"That's two bits you owe me!"

DAIRYMAN 30 YEARS, STILL HAS 35 OF HIS ORIGINAL CUSTOMERS

Every once in a while you hear a man sigh for the good old days when whisky was five cents a glass—but how many remember when milk was five cents a quart?

It will be 30 years ago tomorrow that W. H. Schaus, Mansfield's oldest independent dairyman and owner of the Pleasant View dairy, West Fourth street road, began a milk route in the city which he has served continuously since then—and of which he still holds 35 of his original customers.

Handling a milk route in those days was something, Schaus will tell you.

"Mrs. Schaus and I got up every morning, seven days a week, at 3 o'clock in the morning and while I looked after the stock, she harnessed the horse, got the cans of milk on the wagon and then got breakfast and put up my lunch. I had to get started by 6 a. m. and it took until 3 p. m. to complete the route.

"At that time, Sycamore street was the end of the paved street on West Fourth and sometimes it was prety rough going. In the winter I had to carry a little stove inside the wagon to keep the milk from freezing, and in the summer I packed ice around the cans to keep it sweet.

"There weren't any milk bottles. The housewife left her own container on the back porch, either a quart jar or a tin bucket, and I measured the milk out of the cans and poured it into her container. The same kind of milk that I sell today for 11 cents a quart, I sold then for five cents. People wondered what the world was coming to when conditions forced the price up to six cents and then to seven cents a quart."

When Schaus first started in the dairy business he was assisted by his brother, Rudolph, but the latter soon launched his own nursery business on an adjoining farm and still operates the nursery there.

The Schaus dairy was adjacent to the farm owned by the Bromfield family and when Schaus needed extra help on the farm, he called on the tall, gangly Bromfield boy whose name was Louis, now a world-famous author.

In 30 years of delivering milk to Mansfield housewives, Schaus has worn out three milk wagons and four delivery trucks.

"It hasn't been an easy way to make a living," he said today, "but taking it by and large, I wouldn't trade the milk route for any job the city has to offer."

Perhaps His Master Drowned?

For several days this chow dog has been standing on the bank of the river in Chicago, growling at anyone who has gone near him and refusing to be lured away. Police reasoned his master might have fallen into the river or committed suicide but no one has been reported missing. The anti-cruelty society planned to find the dog a home.

Lindbergh at 37 Makes News Again

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh celebrates his 37th birthday tomorrow, an important figure in the news again because of his activities during his 36th year. A close observer of air forces, he is supposed to have advised England that the Germans were overwhelmingly strong. At any rate, England bowed to Hitler, Soviet airmen called Lindbergh a spy, and Germany decorated him. All this put the camera-shy Flying Colonel in big headlines for almost the first time since he left the U. S. in December, 1935. Here's a picture story of him since then:

1935. Steps ashore at Liverpool with son Jon. Takes up residence in England; buys a new plane.

LATEST NEWS of Flying Lindberghs, shown recently at Berlin: she pens a best-seller; he writes about "mechanical heart"; reports to U. S. on Nazi aviation; they live in Paris.

1936. Scans Reich's growing air force and studies German plane factory methods; attends opening of Berlin Olympics.

1937. Shy on 3-month visit to U. S.

1937. Lindberghs meet Italy's Gen. Italo Balbo in Tripoli, Libya, on start of their flight to India.

IT'S UP TO CITY IF IT WANTS TEAM IN OHIO STATE LEAGUE

By OSCAR RUHL,
News-Journal Sports Editor.

THERE appears to be some question whether or not Mansfield is interested in the return of Ohio State league baseball to the city.

Mansfield right now is being offered a chance to rejoin the Class D circuit with a minimum of effort, but it has not taken advantage of the opportunity.

Atty. Norman Cohen of Toledo, who owns the option on the Mansfield franchise, has offered to supply the city with baseball entertainment this year.

Cohen does not seek financial aid for the project. He plans to finance and operate the club without assistance.

But he figures Mansfield should provide some support to lighten the burden in his attempt to give the city daily baseball.

The Toledo attorney's only request is that the city conduct a season ticket campaign. But whether he will be successful in his search for aid is questionable. He has not succeeded up to now.

This is not an unusual situation for Mansfield, of course. The Boston Red Sox came into the city without aid from any organization. The ticket sale that was conducted for the Red Sox was handled by a group of citizens.

It appears that this will be the only way the baseball project can be put across again this year.

Civic organizations have shown no interest whatsoever in baseball. It is possible that they do not see the game as being beneficial to a city. This we do not say for certain, but they have shown an utter lack of enthusiasm for baseball. Not just this year, either. The situation has existed for so many years that Mansfield has lost virtually all of the prestige as a baseball city that it possessed years ago.

Mansfield cannot expect a man to come into the city and invest several thousand dollars without some co-operation.

Baseball is a business, and it must be conducted on a business-like basis. A baseball team costs plenty of dough-re-mi to operate. Baseball brings a new source of revenue into a city. Mansfield welcomes the addition of new factories. Why not baseball?

In addition to gaining financially from a baseball club, Mansfield would be given a new advertising medium that few other projects could match, not to mention a new entertainment.

But all of these arguments in favor of baseball, apparently, cannot sway Mansfield.

City Needs Leader To Sell Baseball.

PERSONALLY, we believe Mansfield wants baseball, but it lacks a leader to help sell the project.

And unless this leader, individual or group, is discovered, Mansfield may again be without organized baseball next summer. Cohen cannot be expected to come into this city to risk the loss of several thousand dollars unless the town is interested.

Cohen has made no demands such as requested by the Red Sox to operate in the city last year. But the Toledoan would like to have some evidence that the city is behind him. He'll take the financial risk.

So, Mansfielders, if you want Ohio State league baseball again this year, it's up to you. Cohen has been doing his share to provide this type of entertainment, but he can't do it alone.

Sells, Arnold Lead Rifle Club to Win

Led by Dale Arnold and Fred Sells, the Mansfield Rifle and Pistol club defeated Galion, 1391 to 1238, in an N. C. O. league match on the Mansfield range last night.

Sells had high gun for the Mansfield team with a 287 score marking up a perfect 100 from prone, 97 from kneeling and 90 from standings. Arnold followed with a 285 scoring a perfect 100 from prone. Mitchell also shot a perfect prone score in his 274, one point below L. S. Barrs 275. Steffee came through with a 285 for Galion.

CHAMPIONSHIP hopes were realized by the Rex Billiards last night when they defeated Augustine's Canfield Oils, 24 to 16, to annex the first half title in the Senior A league at the Friendly House.

The Blue Goose Sohioans, who finished in second place, a game behind the Billiards, closed the first half with a 34 to 22 triumph over the Musille Cigars. Miller's Dairys edged Raemelton Farm, 27 to 24, in the other tilt.

Billiards Pull Away.

The Rex-Augustine game started out like a real battle, but the Cuemen pulled away in the second period and held a comfortable advantage the rest of the way. The first period ended in a 3 to 3 tie.

The Billiards held the Oilmen scoreless in the second quarter to pile up an 11 to 3 lead at the half, and were on top by a 17 to 8 count going into the final frame.

The Billiards' scoring was rather evenly divided, with Brucato and Mike Wentz leading the way with six points apiece.

The Blue Goose entry encountered little more trouble in their tussle with the Musille Cigars. The Sohioans obtained a 9 to 2 lead in the first quarter, but it was reduced to 15 to 10 at the intermission. Blue Goose held a 12-point edge going into the fourth stanza.

The Lockhart brothers, Kenny and Willard, scored 12 and 10 points, respectively, for the Blue Goose team, while Bajai, with 12, was high for the losers.

Lead All the Way.

Leading 8 to 5 at the end of the first period, 14 to 9 at the half, and 23 to 15 at the finish of the third quarter, the Miller Dairys were in front all the way as they downed the Farmers, who finished in a tie with the Musille Cigars for fifth place.

Gramly led the Dairys with 12 points. K. Hardin tallied nine for the losers.

BETTINA, FOX COLLIDE IN TITLE GO TONIGHT

NEW YORK—(AP)—Melio Bettina and Tiger Jack Fox, two fighters from the wrong side of the tracks will maul each other in Madison Square Garden tonight for New York's world light heavyweight championship, a somewhat tarnished jewel in fistiana's crown.

The hitherto unsung performers will fight for a title good only in this state. John Henry Lewis is regarded as the best light heavy in the world and legitimate boss of the division outside of New York.

Cleveland Rookie Star to Romp On High School Court Wednesday

A CHANCE to see the leading candidate for the second base berth with the Cleveland Indians next summer will be offered Mansfield sports fans when the City Class A basketball league stages an interesting two-game program at Senior high, Wednesday night.

The candidate is Oscar Grimes, who will journey south with the Indians this spring to fight for Sammy Hale's position.

Grimes will be at the forward post Wednesday evening when the Minerva F. O. E. quintet invades Mansfield to tackle the Westinghouse Electrics, co-champions in the second round race in the City league.

Also on the card will be a tussle between the high-scoring Bliss college five of Columbus and the Yuncker Sports outfit.

Vern Jones, City league president, announced today that the regular weekly program will be postponed next week to allow the clubs to prepare for the invaders.

The Yuncker team, sporting a record of six wins and one defeat, will be out to even an old score with the Capital city quintet. In two previous appearances against City league clubs, the Bliss five has walked away with one-sided victories.

Manager Jimmy Breres said today that Tom Farrell and Jack Miner, regular members of the Elks lodge team, will be added to the Yuncker club for the game. Farrell, present leader in the City league individual scoring race, and Miner, perform with the Sports in all non-league games.

Office Cafe, Satterlee Restaurant Clubs Set Scoring Pace In Commercial B League.

THE front-running Office Cafe keglers annexed team scoring honors with a 2780 total as they took three games from the Burghardt Cafes to retain their one-game edge in the Commercial B league.

Heiser of the Satterlee Restaurant helped himself to a 642 to win the individual scoring laurels. He paced his team to a second high 2774 count and a sweep over the Heilman Grocers to remain a game behind the second place Mansfield Printers, who took three tilts from the O. P. S. club.

Anchor for the Grocers, Lemunyon whipped up a 603, featuring a last game of 256.

The Yuncker Sports placed in the 2700 scoring bracket with a 2741, which enabled the team to take a pair of decisions from the Kochheiser Sports.

The Mansfield Rugs took three games from the Shelby Cycles and the Ringside Cafe added three at the expense of Met's Auto Supplies.

McKinley Favored In Novice Finals

CLEVELAND — (INS — Determined to show the local lads that all the amateur boxing talent isn't in Cleveland, six out-of-town boys will climb into the ring tonight in the hope of taking championships in the Cleveland Plain Dealer's eleventh Golden Gloves tournament.

Among the best outlanders coming up in tonight's finals is Lewis (Pete) Deweese, Kent State university heavyweight, who will face Mike Zampini, slugging railroad brakeman.

Among the novices Melvin McKinley, Ashland dark horse, is favored to give Augustus Elliott a stiff battle in the 118-pound class. Nick Rotz, former Canton McKinley athlete, stands a good chance of beating Steve Simko in the novice light-heavy final.

EX-HIGH SCHOOL STARS FACE ONTARIO SOHIOANS

Former Delaware, Ostrander and Hyatts high school stars dominate the lineup of the Delaware All-Stars, who invade Ontario high school Saturday night for a tussle with the Ontario Sohioans. Among the outstanding stars of the visiting teams are Dod Carson of Delaware high, Herb McBride of Ostrander and Ralph Hardin of Hyatts. The team has won six out of seven games.

Two preliminary games will precede the feature. The Ontario Ex-Hys will face the Raemelton Farm of Mansfield at 6:45 p. m. and the Shelby Metal Products at 7:30 p. m.

Old-Timers Hold Meeting Saturday

An important meeting will be held by the Old-Timers Baseball association at the headquarters, 74½ North Main street, at 4 p. m. Saturday, Carl Maul, president, announced today.

Maul requests all members to attend as plans for a new project will be discussed.

Mephisto, Ready? Go!

MEPHISTO . . . showing the "pile-driver" he'll try on Whitey Wahlberg at the Armory tonight.

Light-Heavy Champ Heads Grapple Show on Armory Mat Tonight.

THE Great Mephisto, who climaxed a long battle to regain his world light-heavyweight crown in Columbus recently, will stop off in Mansfield tonight and defend his claims against Whitey Wahlberg of Duluth, Minn.

The champion and his blond challenger will wrestle for two falls, with a time limit of 90-minutes under Midwest Wrestling Association rules. The bout will headline a card of three events, slated for action in the Armory.

A stirring debate is raging around Wahlberg's newly-developed counter for Mephisto's pile-driver hold. That formidable weapon brought about Wahlberg's downfall early in the season and he now advances the claim that Mephisto will be unable to set his favorite grip. Mephisto, of course, thinks otherwise, but Frankie Talaber has this to say: "I watched Wahlberg in the gymnasium a few days ago and I will be surprised if Mephisto is able to use the pile-driver against him." Former world champion himself, Talaber related the information to Matchmaker Tim Nolan of the Quality Club.

Semi-final on tonight's program sends Walter Stratton of Letonia, against a newcomer to this vicinity, Ernie Dugan of Omaha. They will wrestle for two falls with a time limit of 45 minutes. The opening match pits Lon Chaney of Chicago against George "The Great" Ligoski of Russia in a one fall, 30-minute contest. Both Chaney and Ligoski have appeared here before and the latter is known as one of the most colorful showmen in the business.

Opening bout is slated to be under way at 8:30, with popular prices prevailing.

MEPHISTO PINS TALABER

COLUMBUS—(INS—Before a howling crowd of 6,000 persons, the Great Mephisto last night retained his light heavyweight wrestling title, pinning Frankie Talaber, Chicago, in 25 minutes with a crashing piledriver hold.

TONY TO DO 'MOIDER'

DETROIT—(INS—Tony Galento, fistiana's freak heavyweight, tonight will seek to do "moider" to another of the current crop of fighters he calls "bums" when he meets Natie Brown, Washington, D. C., veteran, in a 10-round bout at Olympic stadium in Detroit.

Mansfield High Seeks Sixth Win

Coach Murphy Encouraged by Display of More Scoring Power by Bengals.

A CHANCE to pass the .500 mark in victories will be offered the Tygers tonight when they are shoved into battle against the Akron West Cowboys on the Mansfield high hardwood.

Their latest win being over Sandusky, Coach Russ Murphy's Tygers now sport five victories in 10 games, with five more tilts on schedule after tonight.

How troublesome the Cowboys will be tonight is difficult to determine, but they have fared virtually as well against common foes as Mansfield.

The West quintet is built something along the lines of the crack Bellevue club, small but fast, and this type of team is always dangerous, according to Murphy.

Murphy was disgusted with the performance presented by the Tygers against Bellevue, but had reasons to smile in the Sandusky tussle. The Mansfielders displayed their best basketball of the season while taking Sandusky into camp.

If the Tygers resume their gait tonight, Murphy may not have to do a great deal of worrying as they are practically unbeatable when they are clicking.

Of course, it's another thing when they're off stride as they have been on a number of occasions this season.

One of the developments that has encouraged Murphy in recent weeks has been the display of more scoring power by the Tygers. The Mansfield cagers are expert strategists and splendid ball handlers, but their inability to hit the bucket consistently has been responsible for the majority of their defeats.

Jake Lyons' great work on the offense against Sandusky topped the best individual scoring performance of any Mansfielder this season.

A preliminary game is billed at 7 p. m.

Other Games on Bill For Fans In Vicinty.

THREE Richland county and N. C. O. and two Twin-Valley league games are on schedule in this vicinity tonight.

Heading the county league program is a tussle between Madison, county pace-setter, and Lexington on the latter team's court.

Union performs at Bellville and Lucas invades Ontario in the other games on the county bill.

Plymouth and Shiloh are hosts to the Twin-Valley league tussles, meeting Adario and New Haven, respectively. Crestline encertains Sandusky St. Mary's in a non-league affray.

The N. C. O. games take Marion to Ashland,

THEATERS

THERE have been a lot of conferences lately between Warner Brothers and Marlene Dietrich and there is a possibility that she may return to the screen under their banner. There is also talk that she may make a musical with Maurice Chevalier. Remember the gay Frenchman whose best pictures were with Jeanette MacDonald? He and La Dietrich will make the picture if Irving Berlin finds time to do the musical score for it. If either of these plans materialize, she probably will return to France to make the picture which she owes over there on an old contract. But since the beauteous Arayan does not find favor with Hitler she is not very keen about venturing across the ocean, until her citizenship papers here are final—as they will be in a few months.

Gable and Shearer.

A few season ago the stage play that was the sensational hit and which brought its author, Robert Sherwood, the Pulitzer prize, was "Idiot's Delight." M-G-M purchased it at the time, but didn't film it until a few months ago. The delay is said to have been due to the fact that Norma Shearer was unavailable at that time. Now the film has just been completed and picturegoers will have an opportunity to see Clark Gable and Miss Shearer together again. Gable plays the hoofer and Miss Shearer is Irene, the vaudeville acrobat who becomes a phoney Russian countess. Around these two Sherwood has built a comedy that is, strangely enough, a severe indictment of the munition makers who make wars. The film opens at the Ohio tomorrow.

Two Youngsters Featured.

Irene Dare, the world's youngest fancy figure ice skater, is an added attraction with Bobby Breen in "Breaking The Ice" at the Park. She is cute and seems a tabloid edition of Sonja Henie. The adults in the film are Dolores Costello and Charlie Ruggles. On the current bill Herman Brix is also featured in "Million Dollar Racket."

Battle Cattle Rustlers.

Charles Starrett, the hero of several hundred movie thrillers, holds his own on the Majestic screen today and tomorrow in "Rio Grande," a tale of a cowboy who avenges the death of a pal and settles scores with a gang of cattle rustles while doing it. Romance enters with the appearance of Ann Doran. "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," with Tommy Kelly and May Robson is also shown.

Romance in Texas.

"Starlight Over Texas" is the romantic and imaginative title of the western which is being shown today and Saturday at the Ritz. With Tex Ritter as the hard-riding, fast-shooting hero. He arrives at a stage coach hold-up in Mexico just in time to save the president's daughter, but gets himself in a mess of trouble doing it. The Ritz Brothers in "Straight, Place and Show" is the main feature.

Benny Gets The Gal.

Jack Benny plays a brassy American hoofer in "Artists and Models Abroad," who get stranded with his troupe in Paris and who steals a great French art treasure—inadvertantly, of course. For the first time in his film work, Benny gets the girl and the girl is Joan Bennett. Pretty girls and Charley Grapewin and Mary Boland add to the interest. It is a double feature bill at the Madison, the second being "Homicide Bureau."

2 'Veterans' Top Players Cast

Two "old timers" of the Community Players group have major roles in the play which will be presented Tuesday night at Senior High school auditorium. Ben Goodenough, assistant director of the Players, and who has appeared with the group a number of times, plays the leading male role in "Night Must Fall," a wierd murder-mystery. Mrs. Herbert H. Schettler, who will be seen as an elderly woman, has done several pieces of outstanding work, notably in "Counsellor-at-Law," Reservation of season tickets opened this morning and tomorrow the seat board will be open to single admission ticket holders at Tawse's pharmacy.

TRAVEL NOTE

MEMPHIS, Tenn. —(AP)— Arthur B. Schraff, 27-year-old globetrotter, says many Europeans who regard themselves as well informed believe lynchings are as common in America as ham-and-egg sandwiches—also that Indians brandishing tomahawks still roam many sections of the country.

DATE CHANGED

Federal Theater Play to Be Presented Here April 17.

The Federal Theater play, "Prologue to Glory," will be presented in Mansfield, April 17, instead of April 6, as previously announced, Walter Underwood, chairman of the Mansfield Public Parks association committee which is sponsoring the play, said today.

The later date was decided on so as not to interfere with other events scheduled for early in April, Underwood pointed out.

Matinee and evening performances of the production will be given in the Senior high school auditorium, with the matinee show for pupils. The play deals with the early life of Abraham Lincoln.

Proceeds from the performances here will be used to finance a fourth of July celebration next summer, Underwood said.

LIBERAL LEADER BESTS PREMIER

Record Shows He Talked More Than Chamberlain.

LONDON—(AP)—Neville Chamberlain was only second best in the length of speeches in the last session of Parliament.

The Premier's speeches filled 258 columns of Hansard, the official report.

Sir Archibald Sinclair, leader of the Liberal Party, took first place with 267 columns, and Oliver Stanley, President of the Board of Trade, third with 252.

STOCK LEADERS DIP AS TRADERS CASH PROFITS

Market Cheered by Survey Showing Brisk Expansion in Retail Trade.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stock market leaders of Thursday's runup took a breathing spell today at slightly lower levels as some traders cashed profits.

Backing down were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Telephone, U. S. Rubber, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, N. Y. Central, duPont, General Electric and Montgomery Ward.

Bonds were selectively higher and commodities a trifle mixed. European securities markets were quiet and steady.

A stepping stone to recovery was seen in the weekly survey of Dun & Bradstreet which found retail trade, despite stormy weather throughout much of the country, had expanded briskly with "sentiment generally more cheerful."

It was stressed that this improvement marked the first increase in retail volume over last year in four weeks.

Buoying industrial sentiment was the continued climb in residential construction.

STAGE CONTEST

An old-time "red and blue" contest is to begin at the United Brethren Sunday school next Sunday morning and will continue for 10 weeks, closing on Easter Sunday.

Attendance and new scholars are the only points which are to be counted and each class will be divided into two groups with a captain and assistant for each.

Dr. J. C. Steiner and H. H. Keck are serving as the general committee. H. E. Kirkwood and Raymond Clark will head the red group and Dale Feichtner and O. K. Austin the blue. This contest will include every class in the Sunday school and the primary department of which Miss Miriam Jones is superintendent, and the junior department of which Miss Evelyn Austin is superintendent. Carroll Burdge and Eugene Hatton are assistants in these departments.

CLEARS $53

The final report for the Birthday ball held Monday is incomplete, but Chairman E. D. Russell said that $53 was received here from Plymouth, Willard, New Haven and Havana from the March of Dimes. It is estimated that from the proceeds of the ball and the March of Dimes more than $75 will be cleared for use in this vicinity.

Mrs. D. C. Hawn, Mrs. C. H. Strahm and Miss Lois House are entertaining a group of friends at a dinner at Miller's and bridge at the Hawn home Thursday evening, Feb. 9.

ASKS BIDS ON BRICK FOR TWO JUNIOR HIGHS

School Board Pushes Building Program; Work on One Unit to Start in Few Days.

The Mansfield board of education asked for bids today for furnishing brick for construction of the John Simpson and Johnny Appleseed Junior high school buildings. Bids will be opened Feb. 17.

At the same time bids were requested on the installation of a vacuum cleaning system in the Johnny Appleseed building, with the contract to be let March 3 or later.

The board was ordered to advertise for bids by the regional PWA office after a number of bids had been accepted by invitation. Under the PWA ruling, which governs all construction work on the $1,000,000 school project, the board must advertise projects involving more than $3,000.

Selection of the kind of bricks to be used in the two buildings will be made by the school board, with the contractors to determine the number of bricks needed for interior and exterior work.

Weather Delays Excavation.

With favorable weather, actual construction of the Johnny Appleseed building will be started in a few days. Cold, wet weather has hampered excavation for the building, but the project will soon be ready for steel workers, it was said.

Work on the John Simpson building will not be started until the old structure is razed. Most of the building has been torn down, and it was expected that the job will be completed in a short time.

While workmen are just beginning on the two major units of the program, the shop addition at Senior high school is scheduled for completion this month. Only interior work remains to be done in the $25,000 addition which is directly behind the high school building.

WORK ON ESTATE OF ROCKEFELLER

WPA Employes Convert Land Into Cleveland Park.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Inside the gates and high fences around the "country estate" of the late John D. Rockefeller, sr., a WPA army works to make the grounds a public park.

Wheelbarrows move along the paths where Rockefeller liked to bicycle in the moonlight.

Shovels and manpower grade the rolling acres. In 1940, the million-dollar tract of 253 acres will be open to the public.

Last year, John D. Rockefeller, jr., who often returned to the estate after the family moved from Cleveland, gave the site to the two cities in which it lies for park purposes.

Forty-five members of the Miami, Fla., motorcycle club traveled an aggregate of 750,000 miles without a fatal accident.

ASHLAND SEWER, PARK PROJECTS REVIVED AGAIN

Mayor Says New Proposals to Be Submitted for Approval by WPA Officials.

ASHLAND — Despite the fact that application to have them approved as WPA projects have been turned down previously, a city sewer project and the Brookside park "bowl" project will come up sometime in the near future with the hope of getting them approved, Mayor W. Art Mason said today.

The move was announced after it was disclosed that the present WPA work in Ashland will be terminated by April 1, with no other possible projects in view.

The applications would provide for revised projects which would be acceptable by WPA officials.

Covers Wide Area.

The sewer extension project would provide for extension in various parts of the city that do not now have the facilities of small sewer connections. The present sewer extension project has solved the major problem, but it was stated that there are still parts of Ashland that are not included in the plans.

It was also announced that according to the present plans water lines to many of these homes could be laid at the same time.

Another project under consideration is the paving of some of Ashland's streets that do not get much traffic with a low cost paving material, thereby eliminating unnecessary expense.

REGISTERS 139 GALION BIRTHS

Health Commissioner Reports 122 Deaths in City, Ten Caused by Pneumonia.

GALION—Galion increased its population last year according to the annual report of Health Commissioner J. George Mannhardt submitted at the meeting of the Galion Board of Health meeting Thursday afternoon. The report showed 139 births recorded for 1938, eight still births, and 122 deaths. Of the number of deaths, 10 were caused by pneumonia.

The health commissioner's report read as follows: 10 consultations with physicians; two cases of smallpox, 15 vaccinated for the disease and the epidemic completely checked; immunization of 39 children for diptheria with 40 vaccinations; 10 syphilis cases treated; one new case of tuberculosis. Because the city has no nurse there was no report for maternity cases. There was no examination of food and drink handlers because the city has no ordinance for this. Lack of a city nurse provided no infant care. With the exception of the pre-school clinic, there were no examinations of city school children because the school board does not provide a school physician, the report stated. It was explained that school hygiene is cared for by the school nurse. Children with defects (crippled) are cared for by the county board.

BOGGED DOWN WITH SURPLUS OF COTTON, SOUTH SEES NEW HOPE

(By Associated Press)

ATLANTA — Dixie's cotton planters, who are looking for new or increased uses of their product to aid them in combating a 13,425,000-bale carry-over from last year, are looking hopefully in at least three directions.

One is increased use of cotton cord in making automobile tires. Last year this accounted for $20,000,000 worth of line. A promising development is a new high density cord perfected by a large tire manufacturer. Already more than 18,000,000 miles of cord has been spun by the new method.

Another potential outlet is use of cotton cloth as a binder in the building of bituminous roads. Experiments in this are being conducted in 22 states. The South alone has something like 1,000 miles of cotton roads.

A third increased use is the making of bagging from cotton instead of jute. Approximately 5,500,000 pounds annually may be required for filling an Agricultural Adjustment Administration program that calls for the wrapping of 1,000,000 bales of cotton in cotton bagging.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1939.

The Texas father of quadruplets had planned only for triplets—but is recovering nicely from the shock.

A Columbus man is suing to recover $6,000 in gambling losses—having decided that second thoughts are best.

February, shortest of the months, with its notable birthdays—Washington, Lincoln, Edison—usually provides the weather that makes spring so much appreciated.

Economy Course Merits Emulation.

ADDRESSING county commissioners at their meeting in Columbus this week, Governor John W. Bricker said that costs of government can be cut, but "it's mighty difficult to do."

This is remindful of a remark of George White while he was governor: "It's easy to put people on jobs but almost impossible to take them off."

Thus far the Bricker administration has been doing a nice piece of work in weeding out useless political jobholders in the highway and liquor control departments, with consequent reduction of several million dollars a year in state operating costs.

If the example in economy being set by the state administration is consistently maintained and can be extended to similar action by the commissioners of Ohio's 88 counties, the trustees of 1,400 townships, the mayors and councils of 825 municipalities and the school boards of 2,380 school districts, it is estimated that approximately fifty million dollars of taxpayers' money could be saved annually without sacrificing any essential public service.

Then, if by some chance, similar economies could be effected in the operation of federal government, the present burden of taxation on workers could be materially reduced.

Pinball Slots Held Illegal.

DECISION of the Ohio supreme court in a Cleveland case involving the so-called "pinball" variety of slot machines leaves no doubt as to the illegality of this form of gambling devices—if there had previously been any question about it.

The matter came up in connection with a Cleveland licensing ordinance for pinball machines, by which it was hoped to add about $60,000 a year to the city's revenues. The supreme court ruling invalidates this ordinance.

The question now arises as to whether police departments in various cities in which such machines are being operated will order them out and keep them out, or will permit them to continue as heretofore.

Insofar as Mansfield is concerned, police department assumption has been that pinball machines were legal and no recent effort has been made to ban or restrict them.

The older type of jack pot slot machines, generally designated as "one-armed bandits," have been barred from public places in this city and county for the past several years, their use being restricted to club rooms of several fraternal organizations which have found them to be big revenue producers.

When a 'Funny' Man Isn't Funny.

A FEELING of disgust seems to be the public reaction to the episode of George Burns, radio comic, being involved in such a cheap act as smuggling, pleading guilty, paying an $8,000 fine and receiving a suspended prison sentence.

When it is considered that Burns is being paid thousands of dollars a week just for being "funny" half an hour a week on the radio, the idea that he is of such small caliber as to attempt to gyp the government (the people of the United States) out of approximately $1,000 duty on smuggled jewelry can scarcely fail to strike a discordant note among those who incline to idealize their entertainers.

The experience of Burns may well be taken as a lesson by others who might be tempted to jeopardize their reputations—even their careers—by infractions of law or conduct out of accord with quite generally accepted standards of behavior.

Social Hygiene Campaign Spreads.

THE extent to which National Social Hygiene day was observed Wednesday gives an idea of the great change of the past few years in public attitude toward the campaign being waged to acquaint people with methods of treating syphilis, with a view to eventually eradicating this disease from the United States.

Under sponsorship of the national organization, more than 5,000 meetings are being held throughout the country this week, with special efforts to enlist co-operation of youth groups as a part of the educational campaign.

The false modesty which long stood in the way of securing reports of cases, and prevented discussion of the subject of venereal diseases, is being dispelled and health authorities are now being aided by newspapers and national magazines in battling a disease that has not only ruined the lives of millions of victims but has, in many instances, carried through disastrously to their progeny.

Little-Used Crossings Dangerous.

YESTERDAY'S grade crossing accident in Bellville, in which an automobile was struck by a B. & O. train and one of the occupants seriously injured, directs attention to the inadequacy of grade crossing protection on this particular railroad and argues against further tolerance of a poverty plea in gaining extention of time for installing reasonable safeguards—as is being done with the order to place flashers at the Bowman street crossing in Mansfield.

If the B. & O. railroad plans to continue to run even a few trains on this division it is entirely reasonable to demand that proper safeguards be placed at grade crossings, or that it be required that each of the occasional trains be stopped and the crossing "flagged," to make sure no highway vehicle will collide with an unexpected train.

The Franklin county auditor has refused payment for a law book bought for the court of appeals—possibly on the theory that the court of appeals already had a law book.

Reports from Washington indicate an excessive pig crop this year—but there are indications of a slight reduction in road hogs.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—This is not going to please America's hair stylists but we have it on unimpeachable authority straight from the athletic department that these new fangled up-do hair fixes are making sofa-dawdlers out of a generation of high school and college girls.

Belle Meyers, director of athletics for girls in District of Columbia (Washington, if you've forgotten) high schools, says it is a shame.

"The girls simply won't do anything which might muss up their hair unless they are forced to," says Miss Meyers.

The curls cause most of the trouble, she says.

"It is a lot of trouble to put curls in, and sometimes expensive. So they don't like to play games. They don't like to work out on the horizontal bars. They dislike swimming."

Sometimes, she says, they will stop right in the middle of a game to tuck up a stray curl, pin a spiral in place, or fix a comb.

And It's Too, Too Bad.

"THEY won't get in and rough it up in a game the way they did when hair styles were different."

It is too bad, she mourns, for it so happens that the girls lately have adopted a style of dress that is particularly fitting to athletic types.

"Hardly any girls wear high heels to school any more. Low heels, jackets, sweaters, and practical clothing have come in to the exclusion of more uncomfortable dress."

What is the remedy? There always ought to be a remedy.

"I'd like to see the girls come back to a more suitable type of hair style. The short bob was the ideal. Girls with bobbed hair played hard without fear of mussing up their hair. It always looked well. There were no curls to bother with."

Miss Meyers is a bobbed-hair herself. Her hair is brown. She has a free swinging figure and can be described as dynamic. That seems to be true of most women athletic directors. Without being especially pretty, she has flair.

There'll Come a Day.

AND is there any hope for the girls at all?

"This style won't last. Girls will put it aside in time. They still wear sports clothes for the most part. They prefer them. They won't let hair interfere indefinitely."

Meantime it is a hard job to keep the girls coming to gymnasium classes, even though in the District it is compulsory.

"They particularly object to overhead showers, the old style. It wrecks their hair. Sometimes it is hard to get them to take showers after their classes."

Slowly improvements are being effected. Showers are being installed in the newer high schools which shoot out a spray at shoulder level instead of overhead.

Some of the girls wear loose fitting rubber caps when they shower, but without lockers for each girl it is hard to keep them around.

"They ought to have hair-drying machines. But you simply can't get any money for girls' athletics. If ever there is a cut in appropriations it comes out of girls' athletics. Boys get uniforms for games, lockers, and towels. But not girls."

Seems we have heard that before some place.

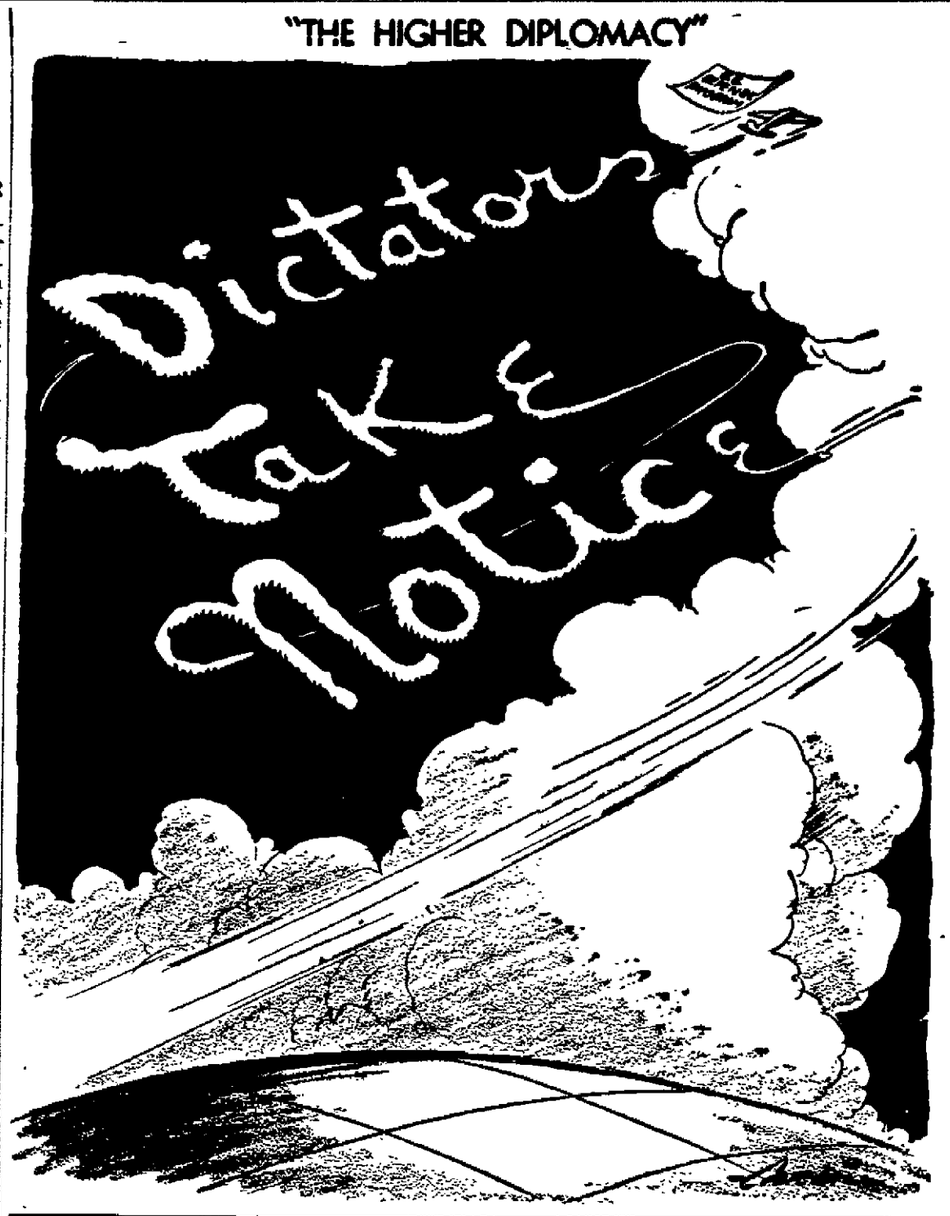
Answer to Bureaucracy.

The American Hospital association reports that in the last year public enrollment in the hospital service insurance plans throughout the country has virtually doubled. That brings the total of persons now enlisted in this health protective system to nearly three million. Yet the system is the growth of only a few years, mainly the last two.

Here in effect is part of what the administration health program would do by means of compulsion and through taxation of workers and others. More recently the hospitalization plan has been supplemented by medical service bureaus through which those who desire it may make small monthly payments for complete medical attention. Both plans are being rapidly extended.

Why tax people to do something they could readily do voluntarily? And why subject health administration to bureaucratic control when it can be adequately directed by the medical profession? The hospital and medical plans furnish the best and the only trustworthy answer.—Kansas City Star.

"THE HIGHER DIPLOMACY"



Senator Lodge's Ideas On Peace

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, jr., of Massachusetts, addressing the Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense the other night, warned his hearers that the United States should go about the job of guaranteeing world peace gradually, not attempt to attain its end with undue haste.

Well, how are we going about it? Why, by undertaking the most formidable armament program in America's peace-time history. If that is not gradual enough for Senator Lodge he is hard to suit.

The idea or arming against war is not a new notion, at that. It has been tried repeatedly and never has worked. The policy of NOT arming against war also has been tried again and again, and THAT has not worked either.

I was a Yankee news correspondent in Europe during the last years before the world conflict. Essentially that was a struggle between Britain and Germany. Britain had had most of the world's trade. Germany was trying vigorously to horn in. It anticipated forcible British resistance and began preparing to fight for what it considered its rights. The British pushed counter-preparations. Finally these preparations and counter-preparations became so expensive, on both sides, that it became obviously less expensive to fight it out than to go on preparing indefinitely.

When the row started other countries more or less involuntarily were involved. On the other hand, China, potentially an enormously powerful nation, always, until recently, despised militancy, as morally and economically unsound, and did not prepare at all. Consequently China's very pacifism landed it in a terrible war—the Chinese looked like such easy picking to the bellicose Japanese.

Moral:

If you do not want war, make yourself too powerful to be safe to attack; you will be challenged as dangerously powerful, and war is what you will get. Contrariwise, if you do not want war, do not prepare for it, and some bullying rival is sure to jump on you because it appears to be prefectly safe for him to do so.

Bellicosity Versus Pacifism.

A few years ago we had in congress quite an outstanding militarist versus an equally outstanding pacifist.

At that juncture (it was in the first half of the 1920's) a lot of peace talk was in the international atmosphere. The 5-5-3 naval compact was agreed on. The 9-power treaty was framed up, too. And there was the Kellogg pact. Armament limitation or outright disarmament were the two orders of the day.

Congressman Fred Britten of Illinois was chairman of the house of representatives' naval affairs committee then. He was a hard-boiled militarist. "But," he told me, "I am in favor of strict armament limitation. Treaties are no good. If a country has the equipment to fight, it will fight, treaties or no treaties. The only way to keep it peaceful is to deprive it of fighting equipment."

Congressman George Huddleston of Alabama was not chairman of any committee, for, in that era, the Democrats, of whom he was one, were in a minority on Capitol Hill. Nevertheless he was an enlightened pacifist. "Armament limitation," he assured me, is waste treaty-making. Let two countries decide to fight one another, and, no matter how effectively they mutually are disarmed, they will fight—with carving knives, if that is all they have got. Peace depends on how folks FEEL, not on what they've got to fight with."

Be Gradual.

Well, "Be gradual," is Senator Lodge's formula.

Arm, but do not arm. Be pacifistic, but not pacifistic.

Congress is discussing this issue.

I wish Ex-Representatives Britten and Huddleston were here to take a hand in the debate. They had some concrete thoughts to express.

Arm for peace—and get into a war consequently! Do not arm, and get into a war anyway! Maybe Senator Lodge has the correct formula—"Be gradual."

What's the REAL Reason?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

PLANNING to commit a murder? If so, by all means read Phyllis Bottome's new book—"DANGER SIGNAL" (Little, Brown & Co., publishers). In fact, even if you haven't a murder on your shopping list, or a couple of deadly Shiga bacilli tubes in your handbag, here's the stuff for what ails you. For, as well as being a corking good yarn, it's an extremely shrewd look-see at REASONS...

The reasons we give ourselves for doing things . . . and the REAL REASONS, which are usually miles apart from our apt alibis.

There, for example, was Hilda. Now why should an intelligent, attractive, wholesome young woman like Hilda Fenchurch decide overnight to commit a particularly horrible murder upon the charming Mr. Ronnie Marsh? It wasn't, Hilda assured herself, because Ronnie had been her secret lover for a year and had now discarded her and transferred his ardor to her own younger sister, fragile, lovely little Annie. No, thank Heaven—she, Hilda, was above the stupid vulgarity of jealousy. If Ronnie honestly loved Annie, she'd be perfectly content. Even happy! But Ronnie couldn't possibly honestly love anyone . . . it wasn't within his nature. He wasn't a man . . . he was a cruel, sadistic worm . . . who was bound to go on and on, torturing trusting souls, unless someone who knew his real self—as she, Hilda, did—put an end to him. So, for Annie's sake . . . indeed, for the whole world's sake . . . it was not only Hilda's right but actually her sacred duty to kill Ronnie Marsh.

That was the reason Hilda gave herself and the intelligent woman psychologist, Dr. Elena Silla, for her projected murder. But it wasn't the REAL REASON—not by several jugfuls. I'm not going to tell the real reason—and thereby spoil a grand treat which you should give yourself this next week-end. But I can tell you this—Hilda was as much surprised when she heard the real reason as YOU or I would be if we were told the truth about some of our seemingly high-minded acts.

For the simple fact is—there's no subject on earth that the average person knows less about than HIS—OWN—SELF . . . and of which he as steadily and dangerously deceives himself.

Getting back to this business of REASONS . . . there's no such a thing as a "plain and simple reason" for doing anything. Reasons, like onions, are built layer on layer. The act you so casually commit today may reach back to some incident in your childhood . . . overlaid but not destroyed by the years. For Life never forgets, never loses, anything. Nothing that you have ever done or seen has gone. Somewhere, in the hidden darkness of your unconscious mind, it waits . . . casting its secret influence on everything you do.

WHAT'S THE REAL REASON? Four short words. If you had the courage to use those four words as a surgeon would use a lancet, you could change your whole life. Want to try an interesting experiment—exactly the same experiment which any great psychiatrist would charge you $25 for performing? Then sit down . . . take pad and paper . . . and TRACE THE HISTORY OF ANY ACT YOU'VE COMMITTED TODAY. Write first the reason you THINK is the real motive. Then wait. Give that buried mind of yours time to wake. Now write again . . . and now again . . . and again.

Surprised, aren't you? I don't wonder. TELL THE REAL REASON. Do that every night, either on a pad of paper . . . or on your knees before God . . . and you'll be a new human being in thirty days. BUT DO YOU DARE?

(Copyright, 1939.)

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Almost every day you read in the papers where charges of murder, after fair and impartial trial, are sustained against some offender of society, and he is executed. If this happens in New York state the convicted is taken to Sing Sing and there put to death in the manner prescribed by law.

Now the legal taking of human life is not a pretty subject, and witnessing such an event is certainly nothing to brag about. But most newspapermen run into assignments like this at times, and when you do you take it in stride the same as a fire or a political rally or anything else.

I think the effect of an experience like this is different from what most people imagine. Especially if your beat includes prison and you witness a number of them. After the first time there usually isn't any impression at all. The man comes into the death chamber at a given time. You note how many seconds transpire before he is strapped in the chair. If he has anything to say you quote him. You always tell how many seconds elapse from the time he enters the cell to when the prison doctor officially declares "this man is dead."

OF COURSE, if the man is a headliner who has evoked nation-wide interest the story is played up. But otherwise it is a few paragraphs.

Sometimes I read where the official witnesses faint or fall to the floor—veteran newspapermen, I mean—and I have read also of sentimental chair-side confessions that had the witnesses in tears.

I never saw anything like that. I am not proud of the fact that I have seen perhaps a dozen executions, but then neither am I ashamed of it, because those experiences fell within the routine of early training in a mid-western state, and I took them as I did state fairs and football games.

BUT I never saw a newspaperman faint. I never heard any sobbing chair-side confessions that had me and my colleagues in tears. I rarely experienced any emotion whatever, except that first time, and then the "relief" was so great when it was over that I couldn't believe it. I went around for days saying to myself, "Is that all there is to it?" I mean by this, things happen so swiftly that you are hardly in the room before you are being ushered out.

As a matter of fact, I can recall the names of only two of the men whose executions I witnessed. The first one I will always remember, of course, because for days before the execution I went around, as any raw cub would, thinking of little else. The other was a celebrated professor, internationally known. But all the others are dim figures whose names are forgotten and with them the nature of the crimes for which they died.

What brought all this on? I don't know, really. Except that the boy just brought in the papers, and under a small head in the second section I happened to see: "Murderer Executed." There is hardly a day that you don't read something like that.

Health Advice

Cigaret Holder as Filter.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

EVER SINCE the practice of using one cigaret as a filter in a cigaret holder has been going on, I have been asked to pass an opinion on it. Up to the present I have had no dependable information but there have been several studies of late which allow us to answer these questions.

I would have been inclined to say, as a matter of opinion, that the use of another cigaret as a filter increased, rather than decreased the amount of nicotine which is obtained by the smoker. Certainly when you see one of those limp things taken out of a cigaret holder, it looks pretty fiendish. However, careful chemical anaylsis indicates that in some types of holders a little more than half of the nicotine is removed, and in other types about one-third is removed. The filters made of chemicals, cotton wads or rolled paper remove from one-third to one-fourth of the nicotine. When two cigarets instead of one are used, nearly 80 per cent of the nicotine is removed.

Harmful Substances.

These harmful substances which are in cigaret smoke include carbon-monoxide, which is present from ½ to 1 per cent in a cigaret. There is over 1 per cent in the smoke from a pipe and from 6 to 8 per cent in the smoke from a cigar. Strangely enough, this carbon-monoxide does no harm as it is freely diluteld with air in the mouth and the amount of carbon-monoxide that is absorbed is negligible. Pipe and cigar smokers seldom inhale smoke into the lungs so they have little to fear from this amount of carbon-monoxide.

Other possible harmful substances in tobacco smoke are ammonia gas and pyridine or pyridine derivatives. Their effect is mostly local and they cause irritation of the mucous surfaces of the mouth and throat, producing a morning cough, rawness of the throat and conjunctivitis.

This leaves nicotine as the only other substance besides carbon-monoxide which could have a constitutional effect. It has been abundantly proved that it is the nicotine that produces the general reaction from smoking. It is a virulent poison but it is combusted in the consumption of the cigaret and so rapidly blown out that there is not enough absorption to cause the serious poisoning which, theoretically, should occur.

Effect On Heart.

In studying the effect of cigaret filters on the heart, Dr. Segal, of Rochester, N. Y., has shown that smoking half a cigaret produces a definite effect on the heart of those subjects under the age of 50. There is an increase in the pulse rate and a change in the electric graphic record of the heart. Those over 50 responded to a much lesser degree to cigaret smoking. This is possibly due to the fact that tobacco is an irritant to the heart and older hearts do not respond as well.

In spite of the fact that the filters remove a large portion of the nicotine, the effect on the heart is just the same with a filter as without.

A Farmer's Diary

Fishing Through the Ice.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

DRIVING west along country roads, one cold raw day, I found no signs of life about the farmhouses I passed except the blue wood smoke that was blown furiously from the chimneys eastward. In barnyards, sheep had huddled together in shelter of the stacks; cattle stood, hunchbacked hair on end, rear and fore-feet close together.

About mid-forenoon I passed a large pond, on which 20 boys of various ages were skating. The long woolen mufflers that some wore streamed straight back as they moved against the wind. I drove slowly, for the scene was inspiring to look upon. In fancy, I was swooping and swaying with them, about the pond, breasting the wind in keen enjoyment. In fact, I came to with a start, just in time to rescue my machine from going straight into the ditch.

Farther down the stream, where the outlet to the pond had made a deeper stretch of still water, I saw two boys with a hatchet near, fishing through a hole in the ice. They wore heavy high-topped boots, leather coats, fur gloves and caps that fitted well down over their ears. I noticed a half dozen fish strung together close to the bank.

I stopped my car, got out, and climbed across the fence. The wind tore furiously at my face and ears, but down below the bank I felt more comfortable. One lad walked about the water's rim and pounded the heavy end of a club upon the ice at every step.

"Catching any?" I asked.

"Yes, indeed — there's better fishing here now than in the spring. A little bit ago I got one on my line, and he darn near pulled me in. I had him near enough the top so I could see him, when the string broke and he took the hook and all." I smiled, as he showed me the length of the one that got away.

"My brothers and I used to spear them, when we were boys," I told him. "We'd take a narrow, thin piece of steel and split it into four or five finger-like prongs, then fasten it on a pole. One fellow would thump on the ice and the others would stand by the hole and spear the fish. We got a good many."

"Better bring your spear and come along over," one fisherman invited.

"I'd like nothing better," said I, "if I were dressed for it. It's fascinating sport. I've often wondered why men will forego food and shelter, though, to stand in the cold by a hole in the ice—and wait."

VISITING NURSES CARE FOR 1,258 CASES IN YEAR

Report Shows 80 Per Cent of Patients Non-Paying; Ends 1938 With $710 Balance.

Eighty per cent of all the work done by the Mansfield Visiting Nurses association during the past year was non-paying cases, Miss Marjorie Palmer, director of nurses, reported yesterday at the annual meeting of the organization at the Women's Club.

Officers, directors and an executive board to serve through the coming year were elected at the meeting. Mrs. J. C. Gorman, retiring president, presided.

Miss Palmer reported that 1,258 cases had been cared for during the year by four staff nurses, who made a total of 7,610 calls. The cases included 212 babies with two sets of twins in that number. Only those who can afford it pay for their nursing care and that matter is decided by the family, Miss Palmer said.

Operating expenditures of the organization last year were $8,820, according to Mrs. Lester Redding, treasurer. The income for the year was $9,530 of which $6,470 came from the Community Fund, $1,874 from nursing fees, gifts and other miscellaneous sources, and a cash balance on Jan. 1, 1938 of $1,186. The balance on hand Jan. 1, 1939, was $710.

Mrs. Preston Elected.

Mrs. Burton Preston, who has been a member of the board for a number of years, was elected president to succeed Mrs. Gorman. Other officers chosen were Mrs. Alfred Reynolds, vice president; Mrs. E. R. Hartman, secretary; and Mrs. Lester Redding, treasurer, (re-elected). Three new members were elected to the executive board, Mrs. George Draffan, Mrs. Charles Nail and Mrs. Ephriam Brown. Members carried over are Mrs. Paul Sturges, Mrs. C. F. Routzahn, Mrs. George Mead and Mrs. Gorman.

Seven new members were named to the general board of directors and 24 of the old members were re-elected. The new directors are Mrs. C. R. Ladd, Mrs. Grover Swoyer, Mrs. Chauncey Chatlain, Mrs. S. C. Shiller, Mrs. Harold W. Arlin, Miss Marie Massa and Mrs. Charles G. Brown.

The old members who were re-elected were Mrs. W. F. Antrican, Mrs. Rex G. Averill, Mrs. Robert B. Black, Mrs. Paul Bovard, Mrs. Charles Fensch, Mrs. Carlton Fernyak, Dr. Ada Ford, Mrs. Mary Gilbert, Mrs. John Hattery, Mrs. Charles Hoffman, Mrs. Ambrose Middleton, Mrs. E. M. Olin, Mrs. L. W. Olson, Mrs. Harvey Phelps, Mrs. T. R. Sammons, Mrs. F. J. Schuster, Mrs. Charles L. Shafer, Mrs. George W. Stephens, Mrs. Alan Tappan, Mrs. Clayton C. Wagner, Mrs. William M. Weldon, sr., Mrs. Paul A. Williams and Mrs. Fred Wolf.

Dr. R. C. Rehder, health commissioner, gave a resume of the work that has been done through the free tuberculosis clinics in Mansfield.

Mrs. Dorothy Bell, who was added to the nursing staff during the past year was introduced.

Girl Graduates In Hospital

COMMUTE 134,000 MILES IN YEAR TO ATTEND COLLEGE AT ASHLAND

Mansfield's "college commuters" at Ashland college will drive approximately a total of 134,000 miles this year in pursuit of education.

Of the 49 students at the neighboring institution, who commute daily between their homes and the school, 21 are from Mansfield and vicinity.

The official distance from the center of Mansfield to the college is 16 miles, making a 32-mile drive five days a week for these students, a total of 160 miles a week, for 40 weeks.

But a number of other commuters come a longer distance, as far as Wooster. Others come to school daily from Loudonville, Hayesville, Polk and other towns in this vicinity.

Every morning the parking space around the campus fills up with cars that have been driven by the college commuters. Many of the students have all morning classes so that they are able to return home in time for lunch. In a number of cases, four or five students from the same vicinity arrange to come in the same car, "divvey up" on the cost of gasoline and thus reduce still more the cost of college work.

Mansfield has the largest number of student commuters from any one town. Twenty-one were registered for the first semester and probably the number will increase with new enrollments for the new semester.

Mansfield "commuters" for the semester just ended included Charles Beck, 522 Park avenue west; Edward Beilstein, 348 West Fifth street; Neil Case, 626 South Diamond street; George Depler, 326 Davis road; LaVerne Gray, 296 West Sixth street; Frederick Haag, 376 Marion avenue; Daryl and James Heiser, 149 East Second street; Carl Ish, 65 Buckingham street; Elizabeth Lake, 424 Shepard road; Paul Lemon, 479 Springmill street; Richard Metcalf, 2 Dunbilt court; Robert Miller, R. F. D. 5; John Moore, R. F. D. 3; Margaret Pittinger, R. F. D. 2; Tru Read, 276 Rowland avenue; Harry Russell, 36 West Arch street; LaVergne Stone, 98 Sheridan avenue; Frank Vesper, 103 North Diamond street; Evan Waltz, 439 Marion avenue and Ina Weatherbie, R. F. D. 4.

Another Richland county commuter is Earl York of Lucas, R. F. D. 2.

SPEAK AT SHENANDOAH

Phone Number In Popular Ditty Causes Headache

BRYAN, Tex.—(INS)—Employes of the Bryan city warehouse and shop don't know whether they should be more irritated at the boys at Texas A. & M. College or at the fellow who wrote the song, "I Must See Annie Tonight."

Since the nutty ditty became popular, the Aggies have been spending their spare time calling the nearest number in the book to the "Bryant 709" of the song. The nearest number, of course, is "Bryan 709," which connects the caller with the city warehouse.

College Station is a good four miles from Bryan, too far to walk over and start an argument, so after the first hundred calls or so the warehouse employes have been using the stock answer:

"Annie doesn't live here any more and in fact, she never did."

Facts For Business Men

Habit is a great factor in human behavior. Folks hereabout, have The News-Journal habit—and along with their news-reading they have developed the ad reading habit.

This just means that it's too bad when your advertisement isn't in The News-Journal: You've lost a chance to tell the buyer what you have to sell.

PUPILS BARTER WITH PRODUCE

Crate of Pumpkins or Hams Pay Their Tuition.

PULLMAN, Wash.—(AP)—A crate of pumpkins or hams from the old farm smokehouse can be the down payment on an education at Washington State college.

Possibilities of the barter system are offered needy students who live in the new co-operative dormitary. Farm youths can—and do—turn in vegetables, fruits or meats from home as payments on board and room bills. They get credit at the market price.

The co-op students set their own rules and do all the work but the cooking. They don't take a chance on rotating that job. The reputation of their food is an important attraction.

FREE HOLIDAY

BUDAPEST—(INS)—One hundred Hungarian school children are to have a free summer holiday in Italy next year. The invitation was issued by Count Ciano, Italian foreign minister, as a gesture to confirm the good relations between the two countries and to educate the future Hungarian citizens in the love of the soil and culture of a friendly nation.

GRADS TURN TO MOVIE-MAKING

Commencement Program on Film New For Georgia.

ATLANTA, Ga.—(AP)—Imagine a high school commencement with a talking movie substituted for speech-making. To add excitement, let the movie be the senior class's own "production."

That was what the mid-term graduating class at Murphy Junior high school had for its commencement.

More than 50 members of the class spent three months in providing the acting, costumes, stage properties, music and camera work for their movie, "Lady of the Lake."

A 112-acre community forest at Newington, N. H., established in 1710, is said to be the oldest in the United States.

HEARS RUMORS ON NEUTRALITY

Capital Stirred by Reports Roosevelt Will Attempt to Seek Act's Repeal.

posed sale by private manufacturers but considered it the logical thing to do.

Rep. Harter (D-Ohio) said he regarded the excitement of some senators over the proposition as a tempest in a teapot.

"It's all bunkum," added Rep. Snyder (D-Pa.), chairman of the military appropriations subcommittee which conferred with Mr. Roosevelt yesterday. Members said only technical phases of the $552,000,000 defense program were taken up, but it was learned later that the whole world armament situation was discussed.

Authoritative congressional sources said the conference was occasioned by the fact that opposition in the committee was endangering portions of the defense program, especially the proposed $300,000,000 expansion of the army air corps.

To members who questioned whether America's location made 3,000 more warplanes necessary, Mr. Roosevelt was described as mentioning the possibility of foreign powers setting up air bases in Brazil or Mexico.

The nine Republican members of the house foreign affairs committee issued a statement late yesterday protesting against secrecy in the French plane sales.

"We urge the president to present all the facts openly to the American people and to uphold our traditional foreign policy of neutrality, non-intervention and peace," they said.

CHAPTER XVI

As usual they retired early. When Tod was certain that all the lights in the house were out, he got up from the chair by the window and put his medicine in a paper bag he found. His head began to ache again and his legs were unsteady.

At the door he paused, looking at the room. It was characteristic of Nancy, this room. Neat and pretty and decorated in blue. The scent of honeysuckle was heavy and sweet again. Through the opened window he saw that the sky was clear and that no storm brooded.

Quietly he went downstairs, opened the front door, stepped out on the veranda, and then on the lawn. Perhaps he should have left a note. But what was there to say? He could not tell her what he felt. They knew he was grateful for all they had done for him.

An object in front of him made him kneel to see what it was. It was a blue ribbon. Her ribbon. She wore it in her brown hair. He picked it up and put it in his pocket.

* * *

Footsteps hurrying over the grass made him turn. It was Nancy running to him!

When she reached him, she cried breathlessly, "Where are you going? You're not . . . running away?"

"I'm all right now," he said stoically. "The doctor says I'm okay. And thanks for everything. I didn't know how to say thanks . . . that's why I . . ."

Touching his arm, she asked, "Do you want to go? Please . . ."

He took a step away from her. His voice was fierce.

"No. I don't want to go. But I've got to. I can't stay here any longer."

"Why? Why can't you?"

"Because I love you—if you must know. That's a funny one. Me in love with you!"

"Is it so funny?" She went to him and stood close to him and looked into his face. "It's not funny to me. You thought I was asleep, didn't you? I was sitting by the window waiting for the time to give you your medicine and I went in and didn't find you . . . I thought I'd lost what I want more than anything else in the world. You. I don't even know your name . . . but that doesn't matter . . . you see. I love you, too."

"I'm a bum, Nancy. A tramp. You don't know . . ."

"I don't care. I love you and I don't want you to go away, ever. Besides, you're not strong enough. You don't have to tell me your name now because you said if your family knew, they would come and get you. I don't want them to come for you. I don't want you to go away. Won't you come back, please?" She put her arms around him. "You said you loved me. Don't run away from it. Falling in love is as incredible to me as it is to you. You don't know about me either."

His arms went around her and his head bent to hers. "I've no right to do this, Nancy! Your mother . . . I'm nobody. You've got to listen to me! I've made my own family miserable. I'll make you miserable. I'm bad luck. I've always hated people who were rich and I've always hated gratitude. I've got a grudge against life. I've been in trouble with the police."

Pressing her lips against his face, she said, "I don't care what you've been. I know what you are now. I hate money, too. It's made me unhappy and divorced my mother and father. I've a grudge against life, too. And I don't care what you've been or what you've done. Love—love happens. I'm not going to lose mine." She laughed happily. "Yes, it is funny loving some one and not being able to call him anything because you don't know his name. But don't tell me now because I'd have to let them know and they'd come for you . . ."

"But your mother . . ."

"Will understand. She always understands things like this. Aren't you happy?"

"Yes, but . . ."

"Don't say it."

She put her arm through his and they walked back to the house.

"Promise you won't try to run away again. Everything will work out. There's nothing that stands in our way."

He smiled. "You wouldn't marry me!"

She laughed. "Wouldn't I? I am going to when you're stronger and I know your name. I'll have to know your name to marry you."

"But that might make a difference."

"I won't let it make a difference." Standing on tiptoe she kissed him and they went into the house together.

* * *

Alone in her room again, his happiness shook him. He was afraid for a moment that he was going to cry. He, hard-boiled Tod Barton who had been to sea, crying because he was happy, because he'd found himself! If only Alix were here . . . She would come. He had wondered why she had not been since she and Nancy and Bernice were friends. Again and again he said, "She loves me. Nancy loves me."

The lamp beside the bed was lighted and when Nancy went into her mother's room, Bernice sat up.

"He was running away," Nancy said. "I brought him back, mother. He was running away because he's in love with me."

"And you love him."

"Yes. I love him and I don't know his name." She laughed. "Do you mind, darling?"

Bernice shook her dark head. "I've become very attached to him myself. He's a fine boy. Strange, how things happen. I'm going to lose your father forever to Alix and gain a son through you. Turn out the light, dear. But I'm happy for you. You aren't going to be cheated. I was afraid you were. I was afraid your mind and heart had been poisoned by the mess your father and I made of our love."

"My heart and mind were poisoned," Nancy said, "until he came and needed me."

From the porch Tuck saw Alix and Eddie on the crudely fashioned pier. Alix wore a white rubber bathing suit and her lovely hair was drying in the sun. The smoke from Eddie's cigaret curled upward. Seeing them Tuck, too, nodded prophetically. "They make a fine looking couple," she thought. "But Kurt and Alix make an even finer looking couple."

Eddie said, "This is a swell place."

Alix said, "I've dusted the cobwebs from my brain out here. It's so lovely it makes you wonder if there are any ugly things in the world. Time seems to stand still. No busses and street cars where people push you anl almost walk over you. No typewriters clicking in your brain." She hugged her bare knees. "I guess I've lost my job. Alix Barton disappears. But there were no extras or headlines about me."

"Have you thought things out? And do you know what tonight is?"

"Yes, but . . ."

"Don't say it."

She put her arm through his and they walked back to the house.

"Promise you won't try to run away again. Everything will work out. There's nothing that stands in our way."

He smiled. "You wouldn't marry me!"

She laughed. "Wouldn't I? I am going to when you're stronger and I know your name. I'll have to know your name to marry you."

"But that might make a difference."

"I won't let it make a difference." Standing on tiptoe she kissed him and they went into the house together.

were but that you didn't want to see anybody. He just smiled." Flipping the cigaret in the water, he watched the current take it downstream. "Have you thought about me, Alix. Sort of a dumb thing to ask, I guess. But my offer still goes."

She turned her head. "Look at me, Eddie. I wish more than anything that I could give you the love I gave Kurt the first time I saw him. Down here I've tried to get over it, tried not to think about him. You don't know how hard I've tried. But I haven't gotten over it. I still want him or no one." Her hand held back her blowing hair. She looked toward the opposite shore where the sun was shining through the trees. "Everything or nothing. That's the way I am."

"Don't let it bother you. I just wanted you to know."

"But it does bother me. I'd like to get married. I never thought about it so much until Tuck left. I don't like to be alone. I'm not a career girl. I wish it could be you, Eddie. I never thought before how wonderful it would be to have a place of my own until Tuck bought this place."

He grinned, squinting in the sun. "Shall we take another dip before Tuck calls us for dinner? You're looking great. I brought my evening clothes with me. I'll dress here."

Getting up, pulling the tight white rubber cap over her hair, she said, "Tuck made be a dress for tonight. A white thing. She says I look as if I were poured in it. I hope nobody notices the crude seams. Ready?"

* * *

That evening she came out of the bedroom wearing the simple white crepe dress cut in a deep V in the back. Her arms and shoulders were deeply tanned and her hair, always the most striking thing about her, lay in tight curls and was ornamented by a jeweled clip.

Tuck nodded in approval of what fresh vegetables, sunshine and her sewing had done.

Eddie said, "Who says that Gina Rowland is glamorous? That dame wears false eyelashes. Is that dress your inspiration, Tuck?"

"It is," Tuck retorted. "What's the matter with it?"

"Matter? Nothing. She looks swell in it."

Tuck looked over her spectacles. "See that you don't bring her back too late. Remember, she's been ill."

2 New Bomb Explosions Rock London's Subway System

PUT BLAME ON SYMPATHIZERS OF IRISH ARMY

Investigators Say Explosives Placed at Night; 5 Injured Sent to Hospitals

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Two explosions, attributed by police to sympathizers of the outlawed Irish Republican army, shook two stations of London's subway system today.

The ticket collector at the Tottenham court station was injured in a blast there. His condition was described as serious. Authorities detained one person in the station at the time of the explosion.

The second blast occurred at the Leicester Square station. Windows opposite the station entrance were smashed by the force of the explosion. Five persons were injured so seriously they required hospital attention.

Demands Statement.

Major Clement Attlee, Laborite parliamentary leader, later demanded a statement from the government in the house of commons regarding the blasts.

Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare replied the explosions "Apparently were due to bombs with the fuses left in the cloakroom overnight."

He added that "Investigations are being actively pursued."

It was believed a bomb left in a suitcase was responsible for the Tottenham explosion. Luggage in the station office was wrecked and water pipes burst, flooding the station.

As soon as the explosions occurred, heavy police guards rushed to both stations to prevent further violence.

The Tottenham court depot was reopened at 9:30 a. m., about three hours after the explosion there. Police expressed belief a suitcase with the bomb was placed in the baggage room shortly before midnight.

Scotland Yard immediately rushed special guards to all principal subway stations in London and fire brigades rushed to the Tottenham court and Leicester Square stations, both of which were strewn with wreckage.

Telephone booths and shop windows as far as 100 yards from the scenes of the blasts were damaged. Thousands of workers enroute to their offices were delayed.

Hears Sentence Few Hours Before Son's Funeral

A few hours after he is scheduled to be sentenced in common pleas court for assault with intent to rob, Jay Hunter, 21, of Adario, a prisoner in the county jail, will be permitted to attend funeral services Saturday for his three-months-old son who smothered to death early yesterday.

Unless Hunter is placed on probation by Judge C. H. Huston tomorrow morning, the youthful father will attend the funeral services in the custody of a deputy sheriff. Hunter pleaded guilty to a grand jury indictment last week.

Rites for the infant, J. Edison Hunter, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the Jones funeral home with Rev. J. W. Overmyer officiating. Burial will be in the Little Washington cemetery.

The child was accidentally smothered under bed clothing at the Hunter home at Adario, Coroner Hugh C. Winbigler announced late yesterday after investigating the case.

MARTIN CALLS HIS FOLLOWERS

UAW Leader to Meet With Backers In Canton.

DETROIT—(AP)—Homer Martin, elected president of the strife-torn United Automobile Workers of America, announced today that a state-wide meeting of his Ohio followers in the organization would be held Sunday afternoon at Canton, O.

Martin, who suspended 15 executive board members aligned with his opposition, has called a convention for March 4 in Detroit. Anti-Martin forces, who suspended Martin and named R. J. Thomas acting UAW president, have scheda convention for March 27 in Cleveland.

Akron West, which comes to Mansfield high school tonight to engage the Tygers in a basketball game, is a team of champions in more ways than one. In addition to being the defending city champions, West's lineup includes the "jitterbug" champion of Akron. The dancing star is Morton Leeper, the Cowboys' center. The Tygers are expected to find out tonight that he is also a capable basketball player.

Robert Woerth of Boy Scout Troop 5, who is running for Sixth ward councilman in the Scouts' election (winners of which will be Mansfield officials for a day next week), would have had a unanimous vote from his troop if just one "reactionary" hadn't cast a vote for Woerth's opponent, Ned Painter of the Prospect troop. Woerth received 17 votes and Painter one. When scouts investigated to learn the identify of the "reactionary," they found thit it was Woerth himself who had cast the only vote against himself.

With the announcement that Blackstone, The Great, will appear at the Ohio theater next week, many Mansfielders remember the wild excitement at one of his performances during his last visit. It happened during his greatest feat of magic, the one in which he makes a canary and a bird cage, disappear right before the eyes of the audience. The canary got out just as it was to "disappear" and flew over the audience to the back of the old Opera House. Blackstone's attendants, theater attaches and even the audience took up the chase as the bird actually disappeared somewhere in the lobby. When it was found some minutes later, it had magically changed from a yellow canary to a blackbird—covered with soot that it picked up back of the radiator.

PLANS FOR TRIP

Sheriff to Go to California to Return Prisoner.

Sheriff E. P. Long will leave by train Saturday for Los Angeles, Calif., to return a prisoner wanted here for violation of his probation.

The sheriff decided to make the trip late yesterday, he said, "because we don't want any of these run-aways to get the idea we won't bring them back to face the music."

He planned to go to Columbus today to get extradition papers from the governor for Thomas Schwartz, 27, of Shelby, who is held by police in Los Angeles.

Schwartz, who is under probation for five years from common pleas court, confessed he helped burglarize a Shelby filling station in 1935.

Sheriff Long said he would be gone about two weeks.

Administration Leaders Urge Withdrawal of Appointments of Roberts, Smith.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Possibility that President Roosevelt may withdraw two appointments which have encountered strong senatorial opposition was widely discussed today in senate cloakrooms.

Some administration lieutenants in the senate, it was learned, have suggested to the White House that the chief executive call back the nomination of Floyd H. Roberts to be a federal judge in Virginia.

Senators Byrd and Glass of that state have termed the appointment of Roberts personally objectionable, and polls have shown a majority would vote against confirmation

Reports also recurred that the reappointment of Donald Wakefield Smith of the Labor Relations board would be cancelled in view of active opposition by the A. F. of L. The president has not submitted Smith's nomination to the senate.

Should Smith be asked to quit his post or be transferred to some other federal position, a number of senators predicted that former Rep. David J. Lewis of Maryland would be appointed to the labor board. Mr. Roosevelt backed Lewis when he unsuccessfully tried to unseat Senator Tydings last year in Maryland's Democratic primary.

2,500 SAN QUENTIN CONVICTS ON THIRD DAY OF HUNGER STRIKE

(By United Press)

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal.—Self-imposed hunger punished 2,500 convict strikers on their third foodless day in America's biggest prison today.

Hunger, prison officials said, would eventually overcome the strikers' fear of reprisals from their leaders, which, the officials believed, was the only reason the strike was continuing.

To break the will of the fasters, breakfast today offered food that is a luxury in prison. In addition to the inevitable brown beans, mush and coffee, the menu included canned apricots and hot buns. Just the addition of cream and sugar for the coffee, caused 1,500 men to give up the strike at breakfast yesterday.

The strikers were kept locked in their cells. All they had to eat yesterday was a pound of bread each and water. And that's all they will get until they end their strike. They'll stay in their cells 24 hours a day, meanwhile.

Warden Court Smith was trying to find out the "real" reason for the strike. He said it could not be the food. The convicts say they are tired of "too many beans" and "too much mush."

The hunger strike began Wednesday when more than 1,000 prisoners refused lunch. Approximately 4,000 refused to eat supper. Yesterday 1,500 gave it up.

DENTIST SAYS HE BEAT BOTH WITH HAMMER

Declares 'Mind Went Blank' During Argument With Mate Over Financial Matters.

(By Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH—District Attorney Andrew T. Park related today the bizarre story of a conscience-harried young dentist who, although re-married, returned here after a long flight from the law and admitted the slaying of his son and first wife.

Unsuccessful as a dentist, 34-year-old Dr. Norman Stewart, 2nd, who later became a grocery clerk and bartender, stole $300 from a Jacksonville, Fla., hotel to finance the trip and came here yesterday, leaving the woman he married a year ago in Jacksonville, Park said.

Be-spectacled and neatly dressed in a dark blue suit, Stewart walked into the office of Attorney C. Dick Cable yesterday and told his story. Cable truned him over to Park.

Mind Went Blank.

For four hours last night, arms folded and showing no emotion, Stewart detailed in a gruesome statement how, driven to desperation by debt, his mind "went blank" fter an argument with his lovely young first wife over finances in their tiny flat above a garage in suburban Wilkinsburg.

When he came to his senses later, Park said the statement added, Stewart found his wife, Mary Louise McClelland Stewart, 29, of Wilkinsburg, and his four-year-old son and namesake, Norman, 3rd, dead—beaten to death with a hammer and stabbed with a bread knife.

That was on June 15, 1935, when, after having failed to make a success of a dental practice,, Stewart held a depression job as a $15-a-week grocery clerk.

"I came back to Pittsburgh because I wanted to get the whole thing off my mind," Park quoted Stewart as saying.

The district attorney added that Stewart had been indicted for murder after the deaths of his first wife and son and that he probably would be brought to trial in several weeks. He was committed to jail on a bench warrant under the old indictment.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Public Unable to Get To Proclaim Its Ideas On Joining Future War

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK: Most Americans today are groping for some safe and reasonably decent way to keep out of any war that may break in Europe, but finding only reasons why it couldn't be done.

It isn't that this nation has any illusions about the nobility of Britain and France, whose many perfidies in many parts of the world have been freely discussed, or that Americans owe a duty to prevent Italy from stealing a country stolen by France and administered by her with the peculiar French gift for corruption in government plus the French selfishness.

And certainly nobody regards England as the mother country of the United States or feels any affection for the unlovable English people or obligation to help them defend their holding and their lives.

The grievances and the fears which chill the heart are our own, and the whole nation would welcome any sign that Hitler and Germany, the aggressors, were willing to call it off, reduce armament, let us alone and live in peace.

Should war come, this country cannot permit Germany or Italy to lick Canada and then impose the sort of peace which the kaiser's Germany intended to inflict had he won the Great War, and which the Allies, instead, imposed on Germany and Austria. Germany and Italy would be dangerous neighbors in Bermuda and the West Indies, and with Britain and France out of the way and, perhaps, even turned against us in resentment, the United States would be a setup.

It is one thing to read that the Germans press ridicules our apprehension and scoffs at the nervousness of a people protected by wide oceans. That does sound reassuring, but it doesn't explain away the probabilities of the future beyond a European war, nor is there comfort in the Fuehrer's well-earned reputation for revising his plans and revoking his promises.

There is something very mysterious about the Russian phase of this, for always, up to a year or less ago, it was Russia and the Bolsheviki whom Hitler hated, but lately there have been queer signs. Russia under Stalin has imitated Hitlerism, and Hitler himself, step by step, has been forced to adopt for the German people the very form of government which he promised to save them from.

There has been hints in the news that a compromise is being considered, but, regardless of that possibility, France, Britain and, in a deferred position on the list, this country, the contemptible democracies are the subject of his hatred.

There are many in this country who mimimize the danger and prefer to suspect that President Roosevelt has created a war scare to blur embarrassments on the home political and economic front. That is a painful accusation and one which gives aid and comfort to Hitler, but it deserves a hearing and cannot be dismissed as un-American or unpatriotic.

If persons of that mind have information or arguments to dissolve the threats which others think they see in the state of things and the portents, they may save the country from a terrible folly, and one man's reputation or place in history is not worth a war.

Meanwhile, be it observed, the President is making the decisions which commit the country to the job of bottle holder in the democratic corner, should war come, and almost certainly to active help should things go badly in that corner.

The people of the country read and hear about armament [illegible] see the leaders choosing [illegible] and have not been consulted [illegible] have no way of expressing themselves. War they certainly do not want, but nobody has time to get the floor for them.

Perhaps the American people, if consulted, would say that if Britain and France must fight, such a war, that is just their hard luck, and, after all, only another war in the long series of wars between jostling European countries, and decide to take their chances on the future, even though Hitler and Mussolini, with that one under the belts, might be much tougher then. For God's sake, don't anybody blow a bugle now!

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—If every movie biggie read every movie story every would-be movie writer asked him to, there wouldn't be any movie biggies. All the same, I like the story about the tree man and Irving Cummings.

Cummings was having some work done on his trees at home, and the tree surgeon got to talking with him. Said he'd written a yarn and would Cummings like to see it? Well, a movie director is a busy man—and a movie director is always getting asked to read people's yarns. Irving sidestepped it—and so Wessel Smitter sent his book away, it got published, it got to be a best-seller, and Paramount has just bought it. It's called "F.O.B. Detroit."

So it seems fitting that Cummings should be directing—with more enthusiasm than he's had over any assignment in a long time—another movie yarn that almost slipped through the executive fingers: "The Life of Alexander Graham Bell."

This little number might now be resting in the story department's discard file except for the arm of coincidence which stretched longer than is its custom.

It happens that Kenneth MacGowan has a daughter. It happens she goes to Stanford U. It happens she has a friend, the daughter of Writer Ray Harris. It happened one night—the writer's daughter was visiting the daughter of MacGowan, an esteemed associate producer at 20th Century-Fox. The girl asked casually why that old studio hadn't bought her dad's fine story about the inventor of the telephone. So—

MacGowen, curious, looked it up. He read it, casually at first, then avidly. He went to Big Boss Darryl Zanuck. Together they did the nipups customary among executives who have Found Something. They bought it. It seems the rejected synopsis of the yarn had been enthusiastically concerned with the invention, and had skimmed over the Great Love Story, a procedure almost guaranteed to put a script in the discard file.

For once—which makes all the enthusiasm understandable—they had found a real life story in which an authentic great love was the theme and motivation.

For once, instead of looking for material to bolster dramatically a historic tale, the scenarist—Lamar Trotti—and the associate producer had to huddle endlessly on which of the abundant materials could best be omitted. It is the studio's proud boast that the final script "with the exception of one or two very slight and hardly noticeable liberties, is the true story of the invention of the telephone and the great love story which inspired Bell in his work."

The script, incidentally, has the approval of the Bell descendants, including Mrs. Gilbert Grosvenor, Bell's daughter, wife of the president of the National Geographic Society

Don Ameche plays the title role—as yet unbearded, which is also authentic — and Loretta Young plays Mabel Gardiner Hubbard, who was to become Mrs. Bell.

An inventive hero whose sweetheart is deaf, whose scientific work is bent toward the great task of aiding her in her handicap, who was urged on to success by her unfailing faith—no wonder they are doing handsprings!

CHECK BOUNCES

TIFFIN—(AP)—Harry D. Roeder, 29, of Lima, was in a reformatory today serving a one to 20-year sentence because his $50 check for court costs "bounced."

Sentenced in October on charges of participation in an auto theft, his term was suspended. Common Pleas Judge Ralph Sugrue ordered him re-arrested and revoked the suspended sentence when Clerk of Courts Arthur S. Meyers disclosed Roeder had given a "rubber check."

Should Wealthy Girls Work?

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Should rich girls work because it's the smart thing to do, even if they don't need the money?

Acting as umpire is never easy, nor does it inspire gratitude. But there is nothing to do but face the question of wage-earning debutantes and take the consequences.

This is the age of working women. It's the smart thing to tinker at something. If well-to-do girls haven't a pay envelope job, they feel obliged to go in for some philanthropic project or other. They belong to the Junior league, or they associate themselves with charitable work connected with churches. Anything to escape the stigma of sitting home—waiting. Decidedly it's not the smart thing to be idle.

If you haven't a job, you must create one, play at going in heavily for art, music, or something in the craft line. Your energies must have an object, or you're hopelessly outmoded.

Nevertheless, the working debutante of a wealthy family is a bitter pill to swallow for the girl who really needs a job. Mary Anderson, director of the Woman's Bureau of the Department of Labor, sees the question of giving rich girls jobs, not as a magnanimous gesture on the part of employers but as cold business sense. Society girls pull in trade in night clubs, shops, and as mannikins.

Miss Anderson thinks it might look pretty heartless to the casual observer, but there's method in employing rich girls. Besides the services of society girls are usually of short duration, as they are more than likely to marry after a year or so.

If the daughters of the rich and influential demand jobs and won't be happy until they get them, it would be a fine thing for these girls to qualify for some line of work that would help less fortunate young women to get employment.

I wish there were space in this column to tell you at length how a girl, whose family fortune runs into six figures, established a clipping bureau which gave jobs eventually to ten girls. She fitted up the basement of their comfortable town house, as an office. She went to an employment agency, where a number of girls had worn out the chairs, hoping for employment, and offered these girls a sporting chance.

The rich girl's father had held various political office and she knew how to clip newspapers. She taught these girls how to clip news, not only about politics but home economics, society, women's clubs, practically everything you find in the newspapers. The clippings were offered for sale to those to whom they would appeal.

And from these humble beginnings, one of the most efficient clipping bureaus in the country has resulted. This young woman has started a number of girls on the road to independence. That's the sort of thing the rich girl can do without incurring censure.

Marriage Meddlers

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I knew that I must have a "showdown" with Philip Veritzen sooner or later.

Once or twice before in my association with Philip Veritzen our wills had come into conflict. In each case I had been very certain of the justice of my cause, and had gone into conflict with the determination either to win or to sever all connections with the great producer.

I think that to Mary and to Miss Whitlock, watching me, it seemed an eternity while I sat motionless before the telephone, dipping into old memories. That the operator also was wirried at my delay I knew when she said a bit insistently:

"Did you get the message, Mrs. Graham?"

"Oh! yes, yes," I said hastily. "I am sorry to have delayed you. Will you ask Mr. Veritzen to come up to our suite at once? Thank you."

There was a gasp of dismay from Mary, and when I had put up the receiver, I smiled encouragingly at her.

"All non-combatants will get out of the line of fire at once," I said briskly. "Miss Whitlock, will you please take Mary into your suite, lock the door, and keep her there until I come for her?"

"No, no!" Mary protested vigorously. "Do you think I'm going to let you face him alone?"

"I don't think you have any choice, Mary," I told her firmly. "This is distinctly what the children call 'my party,' and I'm not going to let anybody else play in it. Your father-in-law will probably demand to see you later, but he is going to have a session with me first."

"But—" Mary protested, and I turned on her a bit testily.

"Don't you realize, child, that if your father-in-law and I are alone while we stage this battle, he will be able to 'save face' because nobody else will know of it?"

"She is right, Mary," Miss Whitlock said firmly. "And there is the elevator stopping. Come quickly!"

He Enters.

She seized Mary's hand and fairly pulled her into the other room, and I heard the click of the key in the lock.

"Oh! Mr. Veritzen," I gushed. "How nice to see you again. And I was so sorry to be out when your phone call came. I simply couldn't get out of going out for a while. But I'm so glad I didn't miss you."

Fatties Have To Watch Feed

By MME. QUI VIVE

It seems that destiny takes a hand in deciding whether a human creature shall be fat or lean.

Excess weight runs in families. If both parents are inclined to take on flesh, the children will be overweight. The inheritance may be in the form of some grandular disturbance or be due to digestive chemicals that produce anatomical upholstery.

One's manner of living has much to do with weight. The easy going individual, inclined to be self indulgent, partaking generously of the good things of the table, taking little exercise, is bound to stow away suet. The selfish person, demanding service of every member of the family, doesn't move around enough to keep blood streams active or muscles sound. Hard working muscles gather no fat cells. They won't have 'em around the premises.

Women of alert, quick movements are nearly always thin. Because they are thin they can be agile; large bodies move slowly carrying exces baggage in the form of solid tissue. First class worriers stay thin. Through worry the digestive organs do not function properly, sleep is not restful. What it does to the human phiz everybody knows. Makes it look like an old walnut.

Rotund ladies, desiring the svelte silhouette, should not reduce rapidly. By cutting down on fat producing elements, which consist of sweets, fats and starches, the body will burn up its own fat, measurements will gradually decrease. If this burning up of adipose tissue goes on too rapidly there may be more than the normal amount of waste products in the blood, a condition which may result in extreme fatigue, if not prostration. Energy will be lowered. The effect upon the human portrait will be anything but encouraging. Rapid reducing creates wrinkles.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, February 4.

A DAY of strange, sudden, unpredictable occurrences is read from this very intriguing layout of the planetary forces. Results may be radically disruptive or devastating, although surprising denouements may in the end prove highly advantageous and breath-taking. Such a whirl of disruption and good fortune might possibly be attributable to an unexpected inheritance or to the startling coming to life of some dead issue or long-static situation. Be wary; use strategy where it will serve best.

Those whose birthday it is are justified in getting ready for some sort of whirlwind visitation, for there may be sudden and surprising upheavals with devastating and staggering denouement. It might be an unexpected inheritance or some other windfall. It will demand definite change, involving perhaps domestic or emotional strain, or inharmony with superiors, but there is assurance of a grand culmination and congratulations.

A child born on this day may be audacious and adventurous, fond of drastic action and probably sensational ambitions. Nevertheless, it may be studious, steadfast and responsible, industrious and resolute, making a career of no mean significance. It may gain by bequest, trust or windfall of some sort.

Variety of Recipes Today

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

HERE'S today's offering of grab-bag recipes. We hope you'll find a recipe or two that you will want to use soon.

From England, where grapefruit has become a huge favorite, comes this recipe for a delicate and delicious marmalade. It requires one grapefruit, one orange, one lemon, all perfect fruit. Cut the fruit into thin round slices. Add three times the amount of water to the quantity of pulp, and let stand all night. Next day boil for 45 minutes until fruit is tender but not soft. Let stand all night and the next day add twice as much granulated sugar as pulp and boil until it jells. Do not stir more than is necessary. Grapefruit Meringue pie is made first by lining a pie plate with pastry. Then bake. Mix 2 heaped tablespoons of cornstarch with a cup of sugar, pour on a cup of boiling water and stir until clear, then add 2 ounces butter, and cook for another 10 minutes. Add three beaten egg yolks, the grated rind of ½ grapefruit and the juice of the whole fruit. Pour into the baked pastry shell, make a meringue with the 3 egg whites, sprinkle with sugar and put into a very slow oven to set.

Mushroom fritters is a nice luncheon or supper dish. Simmer some mushrooms with a little lemon juice, thyme, garlic and bayleaf, then drain. Have ready a batter and some lard for frying. Mix the mushrooms with a suitable quantity of batter and drop into boiling fat a spoonful at a time.

A delicate fish dish can be concocted with a pound of cooked fish such as white fish, halibut or cod, 2 ounces flour, ounce butter, 3 eggs, a little milk, salt and pepper to taste Melt butter, stir in flour, and milk and seasoning, add fish and yolks of eggs, well mixed. Beat whites stiffly, stir in lightly. Bake in quick oven for ten minutes, and serve immediately.

Devilled crabs with a heavenly flavor is our next offering. Quarter cup butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons prepared mustard, ½ teaspoon paprika, pinch each of nutmeg, cayenne pepper and pepper, 1 cup milk, 2 cups crab flakes, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, tablespoon lemon juice and ½ cup buttered cracker crumbs will yield 8 servings. Melt butter, add flour and seasonings. Stir thoroughly and add milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until the mixture thickens. Remove from fire, and add crabflakes, salt, parsley and lemon juice. Mix well and put the mixture into crabshells. Sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs and brown in 350 F. oven. Garnish with parsley before serving.

Today's Fashion

Making a comeback.

By VERA WINSTON

GOOD OLD satin-backed crepe is making a comeback after being absent from the smart fashion scene for some seasons. Here it is used for a handsome frock, one that is nice for general daytime wear. The color is terra cotta, good under a brown, black or gray coat. The stitched pockets at yoke and hips are of the satin. A draped girdle catches the gathers at the center of the blouse and skirt. The back is very slightly fitted, the mass of fullness being concentrated at the fathered folds in front.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

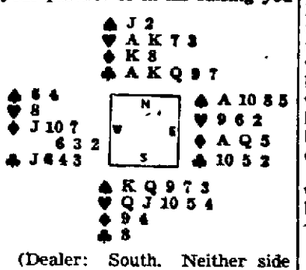
"The Authority on Authorities"

GOOD IDEAS OVERDONE

Shading the high card strength required for an opening bid, if you happen to have very fine suit lengths, is a good idea if you don't carry it too far.

Like all good ideas, this one is frequently overdone, resulting in unfortunate business doubles by your partner or in his raising you to games and slams which can not be made, just because he thinks you have the honor strength which your opening bid indicates.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

After the play of this deal was over, South explained that his opening bid of 1-Spade was due to the fact that he feared a game might be lost if the deal was passed out. The others pointed out to him that it was almost impossible to shuffle and deal the remaining thirty-nine cards so that nobody would have a compulsory opening bid. All of the minor suit honors were out, plus the spade A and heart A and K. The betting would be about 40 to 1 somebody would open it.

North answered South's 1-Spade with a force of 3-Clubs. South then bid 3-Hearts and, since the pair was using no artificial slam conventions, North very soundly leaped to 6-Hearts. West's lead of the diamond J set the contract two tricks.

Had South passed at the start, North would have bid 1-Club, South 1-Spade, North 2-Hearts, South 4-Hearts, North 5-Hearts (at least he said he would not have bid six) and South would have passed. Against a heart slam played in the North, East would of course take his two aces, but against only five-odd, any likely lead by him would probably result in an over-trick, with South's diamonds discarded on the clubs.

Tomorrow's Problem

Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

With the heart 6 led against South's no trump game, how should East play in an effort to set the contract two tricks?

For making rag rugs from discarded hose, assemble the hose and sort them according to colors. Although light hose may be dyed they will often give the desired light note to the rug if they are left as they are. Cut off the feet and then, beginning at the top, cut around the hose in a strip that is one-inch wide. Long strips are much easier to handle than shorter ones sewed together.

If you plant delphiniums in the spring, they will bloom about a year from June, so plant the seeds now. Use as soil a mixture of two parts of loam and one part of sand. After the first true leaves appear, pot the plants individually, and then put them into the ground about May 15 or thereabouts With good luck, you will get some nice blooms in the middle of August.

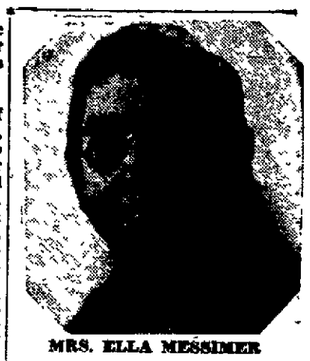
Delights In Eating Foods She Didn't Dare Touch Before

Mansfield lady relishes every bite but never suffers from gas, sour stomach, acid risings, now. Tells how Vendol brought big change.



MRS. ELLA MESSIMER

Many of the best friends of Vendol, who praise it the loudest, are those men and women who hadn't enjoyed their meals for years because of the distress and suffering that always followed. Such was the case of Mrs. Ella Messimer of 24 Prescott St., Mansfield, who gave her experience to the Vendol Man in Central Drug Store. She says:

"For a long time I had suffered every day from constipation which made me miserable and brought on indigestion and other troubles. I became nervous tired, and wornout, and seemed to suffer almost daily with dizzy spells and spots before my eyes. Often, too, I'd be driven almost frantic. There were a great many foods that I didn't dare touch at all but even the plainest meal often distressed me greatly. The food seemed to lay like a lump of lead in my stomach, souring and distressing me with indigestion, nausea, gas, acid risings, cramps, shortness of breath, and heart fluttering.

"I can tell you it's a real pleasure for me to be able to report to you how wonderfully Vendol has helped me in just the short time I've been taking it. As a matter of fact, the first few doses got my bowels moving better than they had in long years, and this relief from constipation brought relief from all my other troubles. Now, my nerves are quiet so that I get restful sleep, my strength and energy are up amazingly, and the dizziness and spots before the eyes never seem to annoy me. Best of all, though, I can eat like a hungry school child without suffering in the slightest afterwards. Now there are no foods that I can't seem to eat and enjoy, and I delight in making a point of eating the foods that I didn't dare touch formerly.

"I want to advise everyone suffering like I did, to start taking Vendol and the little Vendol laxative tablets without delay, and I'm sure they will enjoy the same relief that I got."

Vendol is sold and highly recommended by leading druggists everywhere, and you can always get it at the Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and 4th Sts., where the Vendol Man is on hand to explain about it. Come see him if possible.

TRY THIS NEW WAY TO SERVE CREAMED CHICKEN IN CRISP BREAD BASKETS
SAYS AUNT JENNY
MADE IN A JIFFY WITH Spry! FINE FOR CREAMED FISH AND VEGETABLES, TOO

CREAMED CHICKEN IN CRISP BREAD BASKETS

⅓ cup Spry	2 cups milk, or chicken broth
⅓ cup flour	1 pimiento, finely cut
1½ teaspoons salt	2 cups cooked chicken, cut in pieces
⅛ teaspoon pepper	8 slices bread
⅛ teaspoon celery salt	⅓ cup Spry, melted

Melt Spry in top of double boiler; add flour, salt, pepper and celery salt and blend well. Add liquid gradually, stirring constantly. Cook until smooth and thickened. Add pimiento and chicken and heat thoroughly. (Notice what a delicate flavor cream sauces have, made with pure, bland Spry.)

Trim crusts from bread. Dip bread slices in melted Spry and fit each slice into inside of muffin cups, pressing well against sides and bottom of pan. Bake in very hot oven (450° F.) 10 to 12 minutes, or until golden brown. Fill bread baskets with hot creamed chicken. Serves 8. Try these crisp, golden bread baskets for creamed meats, seafood and vegetables, too. They're delicious—and so easy to make.

It's fun to cook the Spry way
and my, what good "eats!"

"CAN'T cook? Fiddlesticks!" says Aunt Jenny. "You just use Spry an' see how easy it is to get light, velvety cakes an' tender, flaky pastry.

"Spry's purer an' creamier, mixes so easy, gives things an extra-fine flavor. As for the old notion of fried foods bein' hard to digest, why, Spry's knocked that idea higher'n a kite! You fry the Spry way an' foods will be so crispy an' light a child can eat 'em. Change to Spry today."
